

U. S. TURNS DOWN BERLIN

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—The American government has rejected the German reparations proposals of April 24 on the ground that they do not afford a basis for discussion acceptable to the allied governments and has informed Berlin that these proposals cannot be entertained.

The decision of the Harding administration was announced at 11:25 o'clock (Washington time) tonight, when Secretary Hughes issued the statement saying he had instructed Loring Dressel, the American commissioner at Berlin, to deliver to Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, the following memorandum:

"The government of the United States has received the memorandum left by Dr. Simons with the commissioner of the United States under date of April 24, relating to reparations.

"In reply to this government states that it finds itself unable to reach the conclusion that the proposals afford a basis for discussion acceptable to the allied governments and that these proposals cannot be entertained.

"This government therefore again expressing its earnest desire for a prompt settlement of this vital question strongly urges the German government at once to make directly to the allied governments clear, definite, and adequate proposals which would in all respects meet its just obligations."

Secretary Hughes' announcement was made after he had fully satisfied himself as to the attitude of the allied governments. This information was obtained through "informal" soundings that have been in progress between Mr. Hughes and the allied governments since April 21, when the Hohenbach-Simons memorandum of April 20 was received at the state department.

Not until tonight did Secretary Hughes receive the information he wanted as to whether the proposals submitted by Berlin really constituted a proper basis for discussion.

BIG 4 FRAME ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

Demand 'Yes' or 'No' by May 12.

BERLIN, May 2.—(By wire.)—The allied ultimatum demanding acceptance by May 12 of the reparations total of 132,000,000 gold marks reached Berlin at midnight.

MAYENCE, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—One division of black Moroccan infantry and one division of cavalry, under command of Gen. Simon, in fifteen trains left this evening for the Ruhr. They will arrive in Duesseldorf Tuesday morning.

BY JOHN STEELE. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, May 2.—After a four-hour session at Prime Minister Lloyd George's official residence at 10 Downing street tonight, at which it was wide differences of opinion were expressed, the French being on one side and the British and Italians on the other, the allied supreme council agreed on a plan for bringing Germany to terms on reparations.

The conference was not finished by today's session as had been expected, but will meet again in Downing street at 11 a. m.

Allies Reach Agreement.

It was agreed at this morning's session that the demand for payment of reparations would be handed to the Germans as soon as it was completed, accompanied by a twelve day ultimatum providing for allied occupancy of the Ruhr district, with Great Britain and Belgium assisting in military action immediately on expiration of the time limit at midnight May 12.

At the evening session, which lasted from 5 o'clock until 9 o'clock, it was agreed to demand that the Germans acknowledge the indebtedness fixed by the reparations commission at 132,000,000 gold marks by the issue of bonds in three sections; the first immediately, the second in November, and the third according to Germany's ascertainable ability to pay.

Levy 25% Export Tax.

Germany will be ordered to pay 2,000,000,000 gold marks annually, in addition, 25 per cent of the value of her exports. When these payments exceed the interest on the bonds issued the reparations commission is entitled to require the issue of further bonds to the amount of the annual income.

It is evidently the intention to proportion the payments to the utmost extent of German ability to pay and a sinking fund provision is left open for this reason.

It was also decided that the proceeds of certain German revenues, such as the customs, should be appropriated to the service of the debt.

BRIAND CALLS OUT TROOPS

BY HENRY WALES. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, May 2.—At 9:30 o'clock tonight Premier Briand by long distance telephone instructed War Minister Balthus at Paris to order the raising of 1915 called to the colors for military occupation of the Ruhr basin.

This action followed a four hour session at 10 Downing street, at which the allied supreme council practically completed an agreement for taking sanctions against Germany for failing to execute the Versailles treaty.

Great Britain and Belgium will participate in the Ruhr occupation by providing contingents of troops if Germany fails to promise to pay the full reparations total and also to give satisfactory guarantees by May 12.

Makeup of Allied Force.

The American forces on the Rhine will be the only allied occupational army which will not participate in the occupation. The French will provide six infantry divisions, the Belgians one division, and the British a battalion, in all about 130,000 troops.

In addition there will be 200 tanks, 500 armored cars, and twenty batteries of field artillery, all motorized.

Twelve aviation squadrons will complete the military force.

If Germany accepts, she must give guarantees, including acceptance of the installation of a war debt commission at Berlin controlling all resources from German industries, and permitting the allies to supervise and investigate taxation and all other forms of revenue.

NEWBERRY CASE MAY AMEND U. S. CONSTITUTION

Court Ruling Likely to Bring New Law.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING. Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—The Supreme court decision today freeing Senator Newberry of Michigan from the sentence of two years in the penitentiary for alleged violation of the federal corrupt practices act is of far-reaching importance.

In declaring the corrupt practices act void, the court has raised the question of the power of congress to regulate the primaries for the nomination of federal officers and of the possible necessity of a constitutional amendment to provide such authority, particularly to enable the creation of a national primary for the nomination of candidates for President.

Sixteen other defendants in the Newberry case will also go free as a result of the Supreme court's decision.

Conclusion Unanimous.

The nine members of the Supreme court were unanimously agreed as to the reversal of conviction in Senator Newberry's case, but they arrived at this conclusion through widely separated channels of legal reasoning.

The majority opinion, delivered by Justice McKenna, held that the federal corrupt practices law, under which Mr. Newberry was convicted, was unconstitutional. Five justices, including Justice McKenna, concurred in this opinion. Four of the five took the ground that congress had no constitutional authority at the time of the passage of the corrupt practices act in 1910, to enact such a law.

Varying Points of View.

One of the five, Justice McKenna, agreed to this, but reserved his opinion as to whether congress has not the power now, since the adoption of the seventeenth amendment to the constitution in 1913 providing for the direct election of senators, to pass laws regulating primaries for the nomination of senators.

Three justices, in a dissenting opinion read by Justice Pitney, held that congress, under the provisions of the original constitution, had the power to regulate primaries. Chief Justice White concurred in this contention, although he expressed his views in another dissenting opinion.

All four of the dissenters held, however, that the conviction should be set aside and the case retried because of error in submission to the jury.

Moves to Bolster Law.

Immediately upon receipt of news of the Supreme court's decision, Senator Newberry of Michigan introduced a resolution proposing an amendment to the federal constitution to empower congress to regulate expenditures in congressional and presidential primaries.

He said he had intended for some time to take such action and that the Supreme court's decision would only hasten his step.

Some senators, however, took the view that while the Supreme court's decision knocked out the present law, it left it up to congress to pass a new law as it related to primaries. The statement of Justice McKenna indicated that a new law, exactly similar to the one just nullified, would be upheld. An effort toward action along this line may be attempted after more thorough study of the opinions.

Newberry Had Withdrawn.

Senator Newberry was at his home in Detroit when the decision was handed down. Following his conviction on March 20, 1920, the senator withdrew temporarily from the senate, announcing that he would not participate in its proceedings until he was freed by the Supreme court. It is expected that he will now resume his seat in the senate.

The Supreme court decision does not settle the question of Mr. Newberry's right to his seat in the senate. The senate privileges and elections committee still has before it the charges filed by attorneys for Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, charging unlawful expenditure and corruption in the election following the primary.

Senate Hearings to Resume.

Senator Spencer of Missouri, chairman of the subcommittee investigating the Newberry case, said:

"Our work is entirely unaffected by the court's decision. We will take up the case in the future and will give both sides an opportunity to present any additional evidence they desire. It is our intention not to allow the evidence at Grand Rapids to be re-submitted, but we will confine it to the new evidence, both as to the primary and the election."

"We have two functions: One, to determine the facts; the other, to apply the law."

U. S. Vessel Rescues Japs on Fire Ship

Seattle, Wash., May 2.—[United News.]—The Japanese steamer Tokuyō Maru capsized and sank late tonight forty-five miles off the mouth of the Columbia river, according to radio flashes from the transport Buford.

Seventy members of the crew and five passengers abandoned the ship before the Buford arrived. Several boatloads of survivors were picked up by the Buford and the steamer Horace K. Baxter, which also stood by to render assistance.

A wireless from the Buford tonight said sixty-five persons had been rescued, nine were missing, and one was dead. Many were suffering severely from exposure.

Fire was discovered in the bunker shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon and it was soon out of control, spreading to a cargo of lumber.

The steel decks of the ship became so hot it was impossible to walk on them, and many men jumped overboard.

Under the direction of Capt. Suzuki the remaining members of the crew lowered the lifeboats and shoved off. Smoke and flames from the burning coal poured out of the hatchways and within a short time the vessel capsized and sunk.

The ship was 400 feet long and 32 feet wide and was built in 1920 in Japan.

'ACCIDENT' TO BE DEFENSE OF MRS. ROWLAND

Girl, 19, Is Called Cause of Tragedy.

Another "eternal triangle," with a husband shot dead and his widow held for murder, was revealed yesterday when the coroner's inquest was held over the body of Dr. Thomas J. Rowland of 958 Edgecomb place. Rowland was found dying in his bedroom early yesterday morning.

The "other woman" was named as Irene Malloy, 19 year old daughter of Mrs. James Malloy, 7500 Cottage Grove avenue.

A dreary story of "old wives for new," a hint of blackmail, the tale of a man turned "wrong" by liquor, all were related by witnesses during the day's investigation by coroner and police.

Wife Plans Her Defense.

It was tacitly announced that Mrs. Rowland's first line of defense will be accidental shooting, with a bulwer of self-defense.

In Detention Home No. 1 last night Mrs. Lillian Rowland, widow and alleged slayer of the dentist, screamed and wept in hysteria until opiates were administered.

She was booked by the Town Hall police last night on a charge of murder. A bail bond of $10,000 was agreed upon by her counsel, Charles E. Erbstein, and First Assistant State Attorney Clyde Day. The bond probably will be furnished today.

Girl in Case Disappears.

Irene Malloy, the "other woman," apparently has disappeared. Her relatives and the police profess to know nothing of her whereabouts. She is not "wanted."

The story of the affair, pieced together from the inquest records and from statements taken by the police, tells all but the actual chronology of the killing.

Rowland and his wife were married in Philadelphia fourteen years ago. "We were poor," she said. "I worked, and worked hard, to make a home for him. We were happy at first, and we prospered."

Three years ago Dr. Rowland had attained a high mark in his profession of dental surgery. In certain ways he was considered a specialist.

Met Irene in 1918.

Then Mrs. James Malloy brought her 16 year old daughter, Irene, to him for treatment. The girl was employed by him on April 1, 1918. She worked for Dr. Rowland continuously until February, 1920. From that time until May, 1920, she was ill at her home. She returned to work Sept. 12, 1920, and later left him. At first she was paid $10 per week; later her salary was increased to $35.

In an affidavit filed with Attorney Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Malloy declared she "took all her money home to her mother," and that "Dr. Rowland always treated her like a gentleman."

"She was a good girl," the mother said yesterday. "It wasn't her fault. We were poor and he had money. She had her desires for beautiful clothes, for jewelry, and other things that every girl wants."

Said He'd Marry Girl.

On June 6, 1920, the mother asked Mrs. Josephine Lawrence of the social service bureau to break up "the affair between Irene and Dr. Rowland," he was ruining her." Then came investigation.

Dr. Rowland, Miss Lawrence declares, said: "I'll take the consequences. I've made up my mind that some day this little girl will be my wife. If necessary, I'll leave town and take her with me."

It was about this time, Mrs. Rowland declares, that Dr. Rowland asked her for a divorce. "He told me he was through with me—that he loved another and wanted to be free. He didn't offer any settlement, and after I had saved for years I thought I only just had to have something to live on, and I told him so," she said.

Both Hired Detectives.

But she went farther.

She hired private detectives to shadow her husband and in doing so discovered he had hired other detectives to shadow her. Then Mrs. Malloy came to her and told of Rowland's affair with his pretty employee.

In Irene Malloy's affidavit the following is found:

"It is my firm opinion that my mother is trying to get me to make statements which will force Dr. Rowland to give up money, but it is not her own idea—some one is putting her up to it. I told my mother I would not enter into any blackmailing scheme for her or any one else."

Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Malloy continued on page 2, column 2.

SMITH COLLEGE GIRL HANGS SELF BESIDE A POND

Diary Tells of Failure to "Make Good."

Northampton, Mass., May 2.—The body of Miss Harriet A. De Lancey, whose home is in Waterbury, Conn., and who was a sophomore at Smith college, was found suspended at the end of a rope from the Hife Shop dam, near the college campus, today. Death was due to hanging with suicidal intent in the opinion of the medical examiner.

Miss Ada Comstock, dean of the college, said that she knew of no reason why the girl should wish to end her life. She said that while Miss De Lancey did not rank among the best students, she was in no danger of being dropped because of her standing.

Lamented Her "Failures."

In a diary belonging to Miss De Lancey, found among her effects, was a statement saying she was despondent because she felt that she had not made the success of her life that she had hoped, and that she had not reflected sufficient credit to her parents.

The statement said her body would be found hanging near the old mill at Paradise pond.

The body was discovered by Miss Louise A. Aloe and Miss Helen Standish, two other students, who were walking near the pond with John Loeb of Dartmouth college. The girl was identified by Mrs. C. T. Perry, mother of the Northrup house, where she lived.

On top of the dam, at the point where the body was suspended, lay a watch, several articles of jewelry, and a pair of tortoise rimmed glasses wrapped in a towel.

Waterbury, Conn., May 2.—[Special.]—The cause for the suicide of Barton Fay of Worcester, Harvard freshman, found dead at his home by his mother, is one of the strangest known. He was fully clothed and had been in fine spirits. Albert E. Fay, his father, who came here today to get his college belongings, explained the suicide of his son as follows:

"My boy's mental condition was due to worry over his physical condition. Anything that he took which had the slightest touch of eggs in it made him sick, and other dainties, as well as eggs themselves as food."

"This distressed him very much at Harvard, where he dined with his fellow freshmen; also he was able to get little nourishment. His food here was offered contained some form of egg, and he understood some form of egg, and he had to leave the table."

"This sad condition preyed on his mind to such an extent that it finally drove him out of his senses. Treatment during the last six months at times seemed to relieve my boy, but only temporarily."

FLATS VACANT IN RENT WAR'S WAKE

Many Landlords Slash Price to Get Tenants.

As numerous landlords were left figuratively holding the bag yesterday, victory seemed to lie with belligerent tenants in many cases where profiteering had been attempted.

Reports from various sections indicate that there are numerous vacant apartments because of what tenants consider exorbitant rental demands.

"For Rent" signs appeared in many apartments, especially in sections where high rentals prevail.

Rather than face long drawn out litigation in the courts, it was said in some quarters, landlords involved in controversies have capitulated and sought compromises with the occupants of their buildings.

Several instances where leases were signed after the owners agreed to cut their rent increases one-half and in some instances two-thirds, were reported.

Landlords Propose Compromise.

"Of 150 eviction cases brought to my attention, all but ninety-four were settled when landlords offered to compromise," said J. B. Strauss, president of the Edgewater branch of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league.

"There are about 400 to 500 of our members who are fighting."

"Acceptance of lower rents than have previously been demanded was reported in a number of instances by officials of moving van concerns. The general story is that in these cases new tenants arrived at apartments which have not been vacated."

"When I was over at an agent's office with a customer," said one of the movers, "the agent explained that he couldn't get the present tenant out, but that he had plenty of vacant apartments. The tenant was then told that he could have an apartment for which the agent had been holding at $50 for $75."

Realtor Admits Vacant Flats.

That many landlords who have been keeping up unreasonably high rents to their hands with vacant apartments on their lists was admitted by an official of the Chicago Real Estate board.

"We hope that those persons who have been charging exorbitant rents and causing all this trouble will get stung good and proper," he declared.

"Those who have demanded only a reasonable return on their investment will not have any trouble in renting their flats. Lots of apartments can be had now."

"There isn't a real estate dealer in town who hasn't a long list of vacant flats. It is true that there are not many $50 apartments, but it all depends on how long the higher priced ones stay vacant."

total fixed by the reparations commission at 132,000,000,000 gold marks, which, amortized over thirty years, would amount to 270,000,000,000 gold marks, will be reduced to a figure approximating the Paris accord demand, which amounted to 224,000,000,000 gold marks amortized over forty-two annualities.

The British and Italian delegates, headed by Lord Curzon, are attempting to obtain this reduction, and in view of obtaining British military support and British naval cooperation it is believed that Premier Briand may make the concessions sought.

Reports were current here this afternoon that a new German note had arrived in Washington, garbled in transmission, and that the state department was having difficulty in decoding it.

FRENCH TROOPS ON MOVE

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.)
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, May 2.—Premier Briand's order to mobilize the class of 1919 was received from London tonight and mobilization will begin tomorrow morning.

War Minister Barthou gave the order late tonight which will call to the colors more than 100,000 men. They are to be equipped and armed immediately and sent to reinforce the army on the Rhine. Mobilization will be accomplished by individual summons, the machinery for which has been ready for several days.

The advance movement of French troops toward the Ruhr basin for the application of sanctions began today.

Troops Leave for Rhine

The 13th Dragoons, stationed at Meulan, entrained and left for the Rhine. The 5th cavalry division and a combined regiment and twelve batteries of field artillery, left for the Palatinat. The last mentioned units are under the orders of Col. Donop.

Qual d'Orsay tonight confirmed wholesale exemptions in the class of 1919 of students and farmers. Most of the new troops will take over areas already occupied, relieving the seasoned troops for new operations. Information reaching Paris this evening from Trier indicates that ten empty troop trains are on sidings ready to proceed into Germany.

GERMAN EYES ON LONDON

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.)
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
BERLIN, May 2.—[By Wireless.]—While German eyes were turned toward London today, instead of toward Washington, the press spread through political circles that a new solution of the international crisis over reparations appeared possible through another channel.

Representatives of the French minister of devastated areas, M. Loucheur, and Germany's greatest industrialists, who will bear the largest individual burdens, declared they have achieved an agreement affecting the political situation.

From one of the leading members of the people's party, of which Hugo Stinnes is a supporter, I learned that negotiations between M. Loucheur and Herr Stinnes began weeks ago.

Asks 60 Per Cent of Industry.
From another government source I learn that M. Loucheur demanded 60 per cent participation in Germany's industry as the price for a political settlement without a new French march into the Ruhr district.

It is declared that Herr Stinnes offered only 50 per cent, but that an agreement is likely to be reached. In Herr Stinnes' opinion, 50 per cent participation would give the entente a minimum of 2,000,000,000 gold marks annually, whereas M. Loucheur's agents are the opinion that 60 per cent would be necessary. These negotiations have interested German politicians intensely.

A solution of the cabinet crisis is expected tomorrow. Gustav Stresemann, chairman of the People's party is leading in popular favor for the chancellorship and Ambassador Meyer at Paris is favored for the foreign ministry. The Bavarian People's party and the German clerical favor Meyer, thus assuring him the office if he is proposed.

SHATTERED TRIANGLE

Mrs. Lillian Rowland, photographed as she listened to witnesses at the coroner's inquest describe the circumstances in which her husband, Dr. Thomas J. Rowland, was killed in their apartment, 958 Edgewood place, early yesterday. The slaying climaxed an episode of marital infidelity in which Irene Malloy, Dr. Rowland's pretty 19 year old office assistant, is said to have been a figure.

sulted an attorney, Heymann F. Tucker, with offices at 1501 Ashland block. All this time the espionage of Rowland was continuing.

"I pawned jewels to trail him. I pawned my jewels and scribbled and saved to get the evidence on him," Mrs. Rowland says.

The affair culminated early yesterday morning. About 2 o'clock a neighbor heard a single shot and then Mrs. Rowland screaming, "Get a doctor!"

Dr. Sylvan G. Cohen, a friend of Rowland, living at 1024 Sheridan road, responded.

"I found Dr. Rowland lying on his bed, in pajamas. The bullet had struck him high in the chest and ranged downward," Mrs. Rowland, dressed only in a chemise, was in a high state of nervous excitement. Her eyes were dilated; she couldn't talk coherently, nor could she sit or stand still.

"My Wife Shot Me."
"How did it happen?" I asked Rowland. "My wife shot me," he said—but he didn't say it vindictively—rather gave it as a simple explanation of fact. Later I heard him tell Dr. Ira G. Wilcox that "if any trouble comes to my wife, take care of her."

Later, at the American hospital, Rowland, knowing he was dying, told Dr. Wilcox, it was an accident. May wife is not to blame. He died half an hour later.

His body was taken to Shute's undertaking rooms, 743 North Clark. There an inquest was held under the direction of Deputy Coroner Charles P. Kennedy. It was continued until Wednesday morning, when it is expected Mrs. Rowland will take the stand and give the first actual details of the shooting.

Her attorneys last night declared that Mrs. Rowland had neither affirmed nor denied that her hand held the gun when the fatal shot was fired. "Our

TRAGEDY OF LIFE BARED IN VERSE BY MRS. ROWLAND

'Helped Him Win Success, Then Was Cast Aside.'

"The rose that is sweetest and fairest Is the bud that is killed by the frost; And the Love that is dearest and rarest Is the true love that you have lost."

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Scribbled in pencil in jagged diagonal lines across the crumpled leaf of a small pocket notebook, this quatrain, written by Mrs. Thomas J. Rowland, may well furnish the text for the story of Dr. Thomas J. Rowland's death at the American hospital early yesterday morning following the shooting in his apartment at 958 Edgewood place. Mrs. Rowland pictures her own love as "killed by the frost" of her husband's alleged brutality, cooling affection, and persistent intrigue with "the other woman." She says she began to learn several years ago that her love, which had endured through the struggles of married life, financial difficulties, worry, and often privation, was no longer reciprocated.

Worried Over Pictures.

The first definite result of the verse came yesterday afternoon at the coroner's inquest in Edwin P. Shute's undertaking rooms at 743 North Clark street, when Mrs. Rowland was accused of firing the shot that caused her husband's death.

Torn between stoical despair at the tragedy and fear that the pictures being snapped by the newspaper photographers would not be as good as the "splendid likeness at home on the piano," Mrs. Rowland, considerably recovered from her nervous breakdown of the early morning, listened quietly to the testimony, committing every now and then.

Wife's Garb Is Silent Comment.

A cheaply modish figure she was, with the pathetically up to date smartness of second rate apparel. A flimsy tulle dress of terra cotta color, with ruffled trim and lavender lace draped veil, turned back from dull blonde hair, revealing a face almost hard in its determination to show no emotion.

The dress, a combination of blue serge and black satin, had no lines of distinction, and the Hudson seal coat, with collar and cuffs of beaver, was no longer new. The black satin pumps were worn at the toes and the high French heels were lopsided.

Not the stylishly dressed, lavishly bejeweled, coarsely groomed wife of a prominent dental surgeon whose income must have been well over $25,000 a year.

"You see, I have no jewels; I had to pawn them all," admitted Mrs. Rowland as she stretched out her hands, bare of rings. "Just when I would have been able to have things nice and comfortable, the way I deserved them, I lost everything."

"We Were Terribly Poor."

"I was married to Dr. Rowland fourteen years ago in Pittsburgh. He was poor, with no bright future. People wondered why I was married to him, but I loved him and that was enough for me."

"We were terribly poor at first. I did all my own work, scrubbed the floors, did the washing and most of the repairing about the house, sewed and did everything I could to economize."

"My husband was working for the railroad then. He didn't have a good position, and every penny had to count. I scrimped, going without luxuries, and even necessities. But I played the game, as I believe every wife should play it, and I didn't say anything."

"Later, when we came to Chicago, and my husband entered Northwestern Dental school, it took more money, more scrimping. But he was graduated, and then things looked brighter for us."

Prosperity and Woe.
"They were brighter, too, financially. But my husband drank heavily at times. Frequently, when drunk, he would beat me. But we got used to many things; I just naturally stuck to him."

"Then, three years ago, this girl, Irene Malloy, came into his life. "My husband came to me and begged me to divorce him," she continued.

"So I, who had played the game with him, was to be thrown out, now that success was in sight, and with nothing. Even a business partner would have demanded an equal division of the profits. So did I."

Then followed an incoherent recital of how she had been forced to pawn all

FOREIGN NEWS —IN BRIEF—

LONDON.—The supreme council is near agreement on an ultimatum framed by the foreign ministers of the Big Four, demanding a yes or no answer to the allied demands by May 12.

PARIS.—War Minister Barthou orders the class of 1919 to the colors, excepting men who have served in the orient or Morocco or belong to the auxiliary services.

The inquest was nearly over. Her attorney, Charles Erbstein, was discussing the terms of the bond.

"I don't see why they insist on a bond for me," said the woman accused of firing the shot that killed a man. "They ought to let me out. I've never been around courts or police stations before, and it's terrible."

Brought back to Detention Home No. 1, at 1501 Hudson avenue, awaiting release upon the signing of her $10,000 bonds, Mrs. Rowland reacted from her dangerously placid composure at the inquest and grew violently nervous. She was attended by the matron, Miss B.J.M. Dolan.

As the door of a small room at the top of the first flight of stairs closed on the woman, her excited cry was a jumble of phrases about "diagnose" "no powder or cold cream," "never hurt any one in my life," "hope they sing-song," and, in a halting sing-song:

"And the Love that is dearest and rarest Is the true love that you have lost."

BAY STATE LOSS OF $3,000,000 IS LAID TO COOLIDGE

Vicious Traction Bill Was His Pet, Hearing Told.

Boston, Mass., May 2.—Representative Abbott B. Rice of Newton today charged that former Gov. Calvin Coolidge, now vice president of the United States, and former Speaker Joseph E. Warner of the state house of representatives exerted pressure on legislators to effect passage of the Cambridge subway purchase bill in 1919.

In a prepared statement read before the joint legislative committee investigating alleged irregularities of the 1919 and 1920 lawmaking bodies Mr. Rice said that Gov. Coolidge called opponents of the bill to his office and attempted to change their opinions on the measure.

Had Faith in Sponsors.
He asserted that the governor said he knew very little about its merits, but had confidence in the men behind it.

The $3,000,000 paid for the subway, Mr. Rice said, was $3,000,000 more than it was worth.

At a caucus of Republican members, Mr. Rice continued, Mr. Warner characterized the bill as a party measure and said that, right or wrong, they ought to vote for it, and later punished many house members who had voted against the measure by appointing them to less important committees.

The witness added that a few days after the caucus the ways and means committee voted to increase the pay of house members from $200 to $300 for the special session then in progress, preceding by twenty-four hours a rumor that passage of the act was assured.

Glad Helped Pass Bill.

Former Speaker Warner said tonight: "I am glad to share with Mr. Coolidge the credit for the passage of that measure. I did believe and do believe that the purchase of that subway was the only solution of the transportation problem that would protect the public."

"The criticisms of my committee appointments by Mr. Rice accuse me. The $300 compensation for members was reported unanimously by the committee on ways and means, of which Mr. Rice was a member."

LURID CHARGES TO SHOW CRUELTY IN STOKES CASE

Brought In by Wife's Own Lawyers.

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—Accusations against Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes—so lurid, so cruel, that they swept into the shadow their predecessors—were riveted into the records of the divorce trial today by her own attorneys.

The story behind the introduction of the questions embraces one already told: the stealing of Mrs. Stokes' jewels and the arrest of Henry Williams, a Negro Pullman porter. Williams retained Bernard Sandler to defend him. At this time the Stokes had parted definitely.

From the reluctant recital of Mr. Sandler today these facts were grouped: Mr. Stokes, Harry Jentzer, one of his agents, and Mrs. Hattie Johnson, a servant, visited him shortly after the arrest. Mr. Stokes came with advice. Jentzer with a typewritten list of questions to be asked Mrs. Stokes, and Mrs. Johnson with photographs.

Into Mr. Sandler's ear were whispered, testified, a series of charges with which to embarrass and discredit Mrs. Stokes on the stand.

Mr. Sandler was to ask Mrs. Stokes if she had not been married previously and had not her husband died "under suspicious circumstances". If she did not associate with women of bad repute and "longshoremen and a theater owner". If she had not been accused of theft in Chicago.

Disguise to Go Out Is Charged.

Interposed were queries designed to elicit an admission or denial that she was in the habit of disguising herself as a "little old woman collecting money for a church," this to elude her husband.

The final bolt in this questioning was this: "Didn't you collect money from your husband while in this disguise, and while you told the story?"

The questionaire plunged on: Didn't he "wind up each night by getting drunk? Didn't she pose for a nude portrait? Didn't she tell improper stories?"

And the final stroke came with the desire to hear if she did not "dine and carouse" with her lawyers.

All this Martin Littleton, her attorney, lumped as the "campaign of malice" which Mrs. Stokes launched to discredit his young wife publicly.

This Mr. Littleton presented as a form of cruelty, one of the issues of Mrs. Stokes' counter suit for separation.

Hysterically Denies.

Mrs. Stokes took the stand shortly before adjournment in hysterical denial.

While the defense was playing its last card, Mr. Stokes was ill at his home, 317 West 75th street. His physician said he is suffering from a mild case of neuritis.

Practically concluding its case, the defense began today's session by summoning out of its past obscurity the "dark young man," Elliott Brown, a chauffeur of Victor Miller, Mrs. Stokes' stepbrother. Mr. Brown is not noticeably tall, nor noticeably dark, although his hair is black.

He refuted testimony that he entered Mrs. Stokes' room. He had frequently visited his chum, he testified, but had known Mrs. Stokes only casually.

The trial will continue tomorrow.

Clyne Plans Speedy Trial for 110 Indicted Builders

Plans for an early trial of the 110 contractors and union-men indicted by the federal grand jury Saturday on charges of conspiracy to regulate building costs and control construction work, were perfected by District Attorney Charles F. Clyne yesterday.

Plans for each individual and corporate fine named in the indictments were set at $5,000 by Federal Judge Facke.

The May grand jury, to be sworn in Thursday, will investigate the lumber, coal and gravel and glass branches of the construction industry.

Reference will continue to be presented by Assistant District Attorney Thomas J. Howe.

ANSELL'S WORD BERGDOLL BOND, GEN. HARRIS SAYS

Adjutant Avers March O. K'd Gold Hunt.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Gen. Peter C. Harris, adjutant general of the army, told a house investigating committee today he alone was responsible for the release, under guard of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, convicted draft dodger, to go out secretly to hunt for a pot of buried gold in the mountains of West Virginia.

Bergdoll's next "public" appearance was at a small town in Baden, Germany. Gen. Harris said it was on the plea of Samuel T. Ansell, then Bergdoll's counsel, but formerly acting adjutant general of the army, that Bergdoll was let out, as Ansell gave assurances the story of the hidden treasure was true, and that Bergdoll would return.

Gen. Harris said he showed Ansell's letter to Maj. Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff, "who only glanced at it."

Told "to Go Ahead."

"Gen. March asked me if I knew of any objection to granting the request," Gen. Harris testified, "and I replied that Mr. Ansell thought Bergdoll actually had hidden about $150,000 in gold. Gen. March said 'go ahead,' or words to that effect. I did not go to the chief of staff for authority to act. The order was written by my assistant and I approved it."

When asked by former Brig. Gen. John H. Sherburne of Boston, counsel for the committee, why the expedition was so secret, Gen. Harris said he assumed the prisoner's family was respectable and that he would be humiliated if seen traveling under military guard.

"I wanted to spare the feelings of the prisoner and his family," Gen. Harris said.

The name of John W. Westcott of New Jersey, described as the man who had placed Woodrow Wilson in nomination at the Baltimore and St. Louis conventions, was brought into the hearing as one of Bergdoll's lawyers. Westcott had seen Newton D. Baker, then secretary of war, about a month before Bergdoll's escape, Gen. Harris said.

Ansell Will Testify.

Before it was announced that Mr. Ansell will testify tomorrow, Gen. Harris said, "So far as I know, Mr. Ansell did nothing to prevent Bergdoll's escape," while Charles D. McAvoy, federal district attorney at Philadelphia, said Ansell and his partner, Bailey, had been censured by a grand jury.

"I asked them," Mr. McAvoy said, "to appear, because, after an exhaustive inquiry and the belief that the buried gold was a fake, knowing, too, that gold had been taken out of the treasury, that counsel might be involved in a conspiracy to aid in Bergdoll's escape. The grand jury, I thought, should have all information, as the lawyers were instruments of the man's getaway. Mr. Ansell and Mr. Bailey acknowledged my letter, requesting their appearance, but they never appeared."

CLAIMS HUSBAND AND "OTHER WOMAN" SENT HER TO POLAND

It took a trip to her native town in Poland to open the eyes of Mrs. Anna Gevriman. But yesterday two suits were filed—one against the other woman, asking $50,000 for alienating her husband's affections, the other against her husband, asking divorce.

More than a year ago Aaron Gevriman, president of the Western Pipe company and the Mutual Oil & Gas company, introduced his wife to Mrs. Anna Ruby of 3162 Pine Grove avenue, the heroine of a former alienation suit for $25,000.

The three would return to Poland to live, he said. They started for Mrs. Gevriman's native home. She had no suspicions when her husband, pressed with business, left them in New York. Nor did she think anything was wrong when Mrs. Ruby, in Paris, suddenly found an error in her passport.

not permit her to continue the trip. Mrs. Gevriman finished the journey alone.

Then she received a letter. "Husband couldn't leave America, it said. She should remain in Poland. Money would be settled on her."

Mrs. Gevriman immediately returned to Chicago and, according to the bills, found Gevriman and Mrs. Ruby living together.

"Col. Helen Norris to Lead 'Y. W.' Teams on the Loop"

Miss Helen Norris of 4625 Lake Park avenue is "colonel" in command of sixty teams of business women who will advance upon the loop in a ten day campaign from May 9 to 19 to raise $277,000 for the Young Women's Christian association. Six hundred business and professional women have enlisted in Miss Norris' division, which will have its first rally at central branch at 430 this afternoon.

Policeman Promoted for "Magnificent Killing"

John A. Lachel, probationary patrolman for three months, was made a third grade policeman yesterday by Chief Fitzmorris "because of his magnificent work in killing George Schroeder, who had just robbed a woman of $20."

The old military caste of German army officers made the funeral of the former kaiserin an occasion for an impressive demonstration. This part of the procession was led by Field Marshal von Hindenburg (shown in the right foreground), with his former chief of staff, Gen. von Ludendorff (to the right in the picture), and Admiral von Tirpitz (directly back of the field marshal).

KNOX RESOLUTION CARRIES HOPE TO WILHELMSTRASSE

BERLIN, May 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—Hope exists in German official quarters that the passage of the Knox resolution by the United States senate will have a favorable effect for Germany in settling the reparations issue and in establishing definitely American's immediate interest in Germany's commercial situation.

An immediate resumption of diplomatic and commercial relations, or any concrete advantages pending the outcome of the London conference are confidently expected.

This view is tending to minimize official and unofficial interest, which is being monopolized by the London and Paris situations.

Just as soon as the text of the resolution is officially transmitted the cabinet will hold a meeting at which the attitude Germany is to assume will be considered.

The bill was introduced by Senator "Dial" of South Carolina to compel Judge K. M. Landis of Chicago either to leave the federal bench or give up his $42,500 job as arbiter of baseball.

ONE MEXICAN "LINE RIDER" IS SHOT BY YANKEES

Naco, Ariz., May 2.—Pedro Loyan, Mexican immigration "line rider," was shot this afternoon during a clash between Mexican line riders and United States immigration officers on the American side of the border, about one mile east of here.

Frank Braly and Hulse, another American line rider, were the Americans involved in the shooting. According to reports received here tonight by Chief Inspector Ford of the United States immigration force, the two Americans were fired on by two Mexican line riders who had ridden across the border.

The Mexicans fired first, according to Ford, and Hulse returned the fire, wounding one of the Mexicans.

ANTI-TRUST LAW PLANNED TO END BUILDING GRAFT

Probers Hear New Story of 'Holdup' by Unions.

A stringent anti-trust act, aimed to put a stop to all forms of illegal combinations in the state of Illinois, will be introduced in both houses of the legislature next week. This was announced last night by Senator John Dalley, chairman of the joint investigating committee which is investigating building conditions in Chicago.

Testimony which the legislative investigators believe to be conclusive evidence of grafting and extortion, along with the use of sluggers and threats of death by crooked union officials in Chicago, also was revealed yesterday.

Senator Dalley declared the new anti-trust law, if passed, will put an end to all price fixing bodies and illegal combinations of material producers and union leaders.

Patterned After Federal Law.
"It is being drafted largely upon the pattern of the federal anti-trust measure," Chairman Dalley said. "It will be most comprehensive, because we have the advantage of the experience of other states and the federal authorities with their anti-trust laws, and the actions of the courts in many trust testing cases."

The methods of labor grafters is given in the testimony given out by Senator Dalley concerning a west side company over the hauling of its goods.

The witness, a shipping clerk, had his own union teamsters convey a piece of material from a freight station to the concern's plant. When the witness called upon a firm to install the new material the firm refused to do so because the particular union handling that sort of product had not taken it from the freight station.

Grafters Demanded $800.
The witness told how the business agent for the union governing his employer demanded $800 for settlement of the difficulty. This was refused, Sluggers appeared the next morning and laid up the drivers and chauffeurs. A week later the men mysteriously came back to work, but the witness was unable to tell whether his employers had paid the bribe demanded.

He also told how sluggers from the union flourished revolvers, threatening everybody in sight. He said that when another strike was called on the place, the sluggers followed the non-strike drivers, and in every place they went the people were threatened with death.

Further testimony showed that after the second strike was settled, the witness was forced to employ teaming companies named by the union officials.

VICTIMS TELL OF SLUGGING

Yesterday was victims' day at the union conspiracy trial in Judge Taylor's court. The professional sluggers being aired their views on the witness stand last week, the men whom they slugged told yesterday of scoundrel blows, kicks, bruised lips, and bleeding noses.

Paul Marcor, 1505 Carroll avenue, an employee of the H. C. Mallin company, described an attack made on him Feb. 5, 1920. Two men approached him, slapped him in the face, knocked him down, kicked him, and then fled, he declared. John Nehme, 1843 Howe street, told of being likewise treated.

Three men carrying "something in a newspaper" attacked James Kolack, 423 West 20th street. "I was standing at 23d and Lumber streets when two men came up from behind and hit me on the head," he said. They used blackjacks.

Defendants Show Little Interest.
Edwin E. Graves, Roy Hull, and Gus Kruger, officials of the Upholsterers' union, who are being tried for conspiracy to commit acts of violence during the upholsterers' strike last year, manifested little interest in the proceedings.

Others who testified are Sidney Morrison, Frank Hatch, Wallace Stizlake, Edward Behrens, Walter J. Houston, and George M. Tera. The latter showed the jury a scar made by a lead pipe.

WORLD'S SMARTEST MAN?

Some folks say so. For he is none other than Prof. Albert Einstein, whose theory of relativity has upset some of the most cherished of scientific perceptions. With Prof. Einstein is his wife. They came to Chicago yesterday to remain for several days while the doctor delivers three lectures at the University of Chicago and furthers the cause of a Jewish university in Palestine.

EINSTEIN HERE, NOT RELATIVELY, BUT IN FLESH

Says He Needs Five Days to Expound Theory.

The Tribune regrets to inform its readers that it will be unable to present to them Prof. Einstein's theory of relativity. Yesterday a reporter was sent to interview Prof. Einstein and get a column story on the theory. After the professor, through an interpreter, had explained that the most incidental discussion of the question would take from three to four hours, and that a thorough discourse might be completed in five days, it was decided to confine the interview to other things.

Prof. Albert Einstein, scientist and author of the theory of relativity, which has given the world a new scientific conception of space and time, arrived in Chicago yesterday to lecture on his theory at the University of Chicago. As he will give only three lectures here, however, he said he could not go deeply into the subject, expecting to do that at Princeton university, where he is to talk every day next week.

His Theory? Simple!
When asked regarding the statement that there were only twelve persons in the United States whose mentality was sufficient to grasp the principles of his theory, Prof. Einstein laughed. "Everywhere I go some one asks me that question," he said. "It is absurd. Any one who has had sufficient training in science can readily understand the theory. There is nothing amazing or mysterious about it. It is simple to minds trained along that line and there are many such in the United States."

The primary object of his visit to America, he said, was in the interest of the proposed Hebrew University of Jerusalem, but he has taken advantage of the opportunity to get in touch with the American scientific world. He wished particularly to meet Prof. Michaelson of the University of Chicago and was very glad to be in Europe. Prof. Michaelson's experiments have done much to prove the truth of his theory, Prof. Einstein said.

Seeks Help for School.
"The thing that led me to take such an active interest in the proposed university at Jerusalem," said Prof. Einstein, "was the situation that developed among Jewish students in central Europe after the war. A great number of young Jewish students had

Ideal- ARCOLA Heating Outfits

"My Dream of Comfort came true—

"Since having your system installed, I am using no more coal to heat the entire house than I formerly used in one stove, or in, one grate, and besides had a cold house. Now—my house is even temperature from the front to the back, and it is a genuine pleasure to return from the theatre and find the house in an even temperature."

"I am so well pleased with my ARCOLA that I hope you sell every man in (—) that needs one, and you are at liberty to use this letter in any manner you see fit. If the people have any doubt whatever as to the genuineness of this letter, they may call at my residence, and we will take pleasure in showing them the plant. Our dream of comfort came true."

—Unsolicited praise from an ARCOLA owner—name on request.

Comfort for All

You, too, may enjoy the comfort, luxury and protection of Hot Water Heating. The low price of IDEAL-ARCOLA Outfits makes them available for the smallest homes. Extravagant to be without them.

How It Works

The ARCOLA is especially designed for the small home. It may be placed in any room with a chimney connection; it circulates hot water through small pipes to AMERICAN Radiators, evenly warming all rooms. Thousands of families now enjoy the luxury of this economical hot-water heat—equal in comfort to the First Mansion in the land.

Hard or Soft Coal

Many an owner is using less coal to heat the entire home than was formerly required to heat one or two rooms (see above letter). The cost of installation is moderate. Outlasts the building.

See the ARCOLA

You can see a complete IDEAL-ARCOLA Heating Outfit, ready for use, in our public showrooms located in all large cities. Most of the heating contractors are provided with demonstrating outfits. Talk it over with the family and first thing tomorrow get an estimate for your old or new house. Put in any time, quickly and easily.

4,500 PRINTERS IDLE; SEEK 44 HR. WEEK, 48 HRS. PAY

260 Shops Here Closed;
Fifty Cities Hit.

Union job printing houses in Chicago were closed down yesterday as the result of a strike, which also occurred in fifty other cities scattered all over the country. It applies to the book and job printing industry and does not affect the metropolitan newspapers.

The issue is the forty-four hour week and what rate should be paid where it is installed. In Chicago the shorter week went into effect yesterday in the union shops, according to agreement. The employers posted notices Saturday that pay would be at the old hourly rate; in other words, that forty-four hours' pay would be given for forty-four hours' work.

Seek Pay for 48 Hours.
The unions take the position that the old weekly rate of earnings should apply, and that forty-eight hours' pay at the old rate should be given for forty-four hours' work. The unions declare this was part of the agreement, while the employers affirm that nothing of the sort was put into the understanding, tacitly or otherwise.

The employers maintain that to cut weekly hours and maintain the weekly rate amounts to an increase in wages. Representatives of ninety-three "open shops" met at the Great Northern hotel and renewed the pledge they made last week that they will not reduce the hours as demanded.

In Chicago it is estimated between 4,000 and 4,500 job printers struck.

Next Postmaster?

Business Man Who Is Choice of
G. O. P. Leaders for Big Federal Job in Chicago.

ARTHUR C. LUEDER.

(Walter Photo.)
Arthur C. Lueder, it was learned yesterday, may be Chicago's next postmaster. Republican leaders of influence at Washington have considered him favorably and, although the matter has not been presented to Postmaster General Hays, there is a strong likelihood Mr. Lueder will be appointed.

Mr. Lueder was born in Elmhurst forty-five years ago. He is a graduate of Elmhurst college and the Chicago Law school.

According to the Franklin division (union shop) of the Franklin Typothete, all the union job printing houses in Chicago, some 260 in all, were closed.

with the exception of four. The employers say it is a lockout; the union says it is a lockout.

The controversy over the 44-hour week and whether it is to travel with 44 hours pay or with 48 hours pay is entirely separate from the pending disagreement over proposed wage cuts in conformity with the drop in the government's cost of living index number.

Reports from Other Cities.

New York reported 1,500 men out, Pittsburgh 1,000, Philadelphia 800, Denver 725, St. Louis 500, Salt Lake 150. Among other cities affected were Springfield, Ill.; Worcester and Springfield, Mass.; Duluth, Minn.; Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D.; Toledo, O.; Houston, Tex., and San Francisco.

Officials of the International Typographical union at Indianapolis, after checking their reports, predicted that less than ten thousand men would be idle. John McFarland, president of the union, said complete figures would not be available until late tomorrow.

Likewise in the paper making industry, some 8,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Paper, Sulphite, and Paper Mill Workers quit work in a strike against wage reductions. The chief companies affected, it is reported, are the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company at International Falls, Minn.; the Fort Frances Pulp and Paper company at Fort Frances, Ont., and the International Paper company, with mills in twenty-two towns in New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine, and Quebec. Word from Cloquet, Minn., was that the Northwest Paper company's mill, employing 600, was closed.

"PREP" ATHLETES EXHIBIT STUNTS FOR BOYS' WEEK

Pupils in Tilden Technical High school yesterday gave an exhibition of the various athletic stunts to be shown during the loyalty parade next Friday which will open the "Boys' Week" program. Everett C. Brown, chairman of the "Boys' Day in Athletics," was in charge of the exhibit.

Braxton Myers put the shot; John Pierce did pole vaulting, and Michael Bortscheller, Edmund Snyder, John Rehner, and Frank Black sprinted. It is believed more than 50,000 boys will participate in the week's program. Judge Victor P. Arnold is chairman of the Boys' Week committee, and Mayor Thompson honorary chairman.

Peril of Fraud
Election Poi

BY PARKE

Two objectives were set yesterday when the county Democratic organization organized for the campaign. The first purpose was to get the vote, but speakers of the coalition emphasized that success in this would not win the election. Much energy must be put into the vote is counted. It was charged that the coalition was in a position to control the election, and that it was "counted in" no matter what vote.

Bernard W. Snow, chairman of the city hall, was determined to capture the county. He said that his own judges could not handle the situation. Thompson's machine was the only one that could handle the situation, and he was determined to win.

Why City Hall Wants to Get Out of the Election. It is necessary for the city hall to get out of the election to prevent citizens from getting an end to that kind of a thing.

GET OUT VOTE: GET IT COUNTED, COALITION CRY

Peril of Fraud in Judges' Election Pointed Out.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Two objectives were given equal weight yesterday when the Brundage-Denney Republicans and the Cook county Democratic organization announced for the campaign on behalf of the coalition judicial ticket.

The first purpose will be to get out the vote, but speakers from both wings of the coalition emphatically declared that success in this direction alone would not win the election; that just as much energy must be devoted to securing the vote is counted honestly. It was charged that the city hall, in complete control of the election machinery, was making it its ticket what the coalition ticket would be.

Bernard W. Snow, former Republican leader of the city council, pictured the city hall as desperately determined to capture the bench of Cook county. He said that only by having its own judges could the Lindin-Thompson machine prevent an investment of "million dollar payments to experts" and similar means of raising campaign funds.

Why City Hall Wants the Courts.
"Make no mistake," said Mr. Snow, "it is necessary for that organization to get control of the courts at this time to prevent citizens and taxpayers putting an end to that kind of exploitation."

"I don't suppose that any of you actually believe that the city hall is selling its own judges by selling tickets to a Riverside picnic or by the $5 and $10 assessments upon employees. Why, those are just the pennies that fall off the table! They aren't part of the stakes of the game, by any means."

"If there are any of you who believe they are paying over $1,000,000 a year to men who others in their line of business say aren't worth more than a day's work, better go join 'Alice in Wonderland' and the 'March Hare' and the 'Mad Hatter'."

Switzer Emphasizes Fraud Peril.
Robert M. Switzer, chairman of the coalition campaign committee, placed considerable emphasis on the necessity of guarding against fraud. He began with a brief history of the fusion ticket and the offer to include upon it all the sitting judges, regardless of party, who come to accept coalition support.

"Fourteen sitting judges," he continued, "accepted and were placed on the ticket, and the public interest is surely so great that we can look forward to victory—not to Democratic victory or to Republican victory but to a victory for decency and good government."

"What these two organizations now consolidated into one campaign, must do is to let the people know what is at stake here and get them out to the polls."

"But your work must not stop there. The city hall already is counting upon its election machinery to turn the circuit court over to it, and it is being said that we will have to win by at least $5,000 to have a chance."

"There is no doubt that the vote will be cast for this ticket," said Edward R. Litsinger, speaking for the Denney organization, "and if an honest count can be compelled we will win by 50,000."

"This organization must reach into every precinct in the city and the country towns," said Dennis J. Egan, "in order to prevent the disfranchisement of thousands of citizens who will vote for the 'sitting judges' ticket."

The Lindin-Thompson ticket will be

Tammanizing of Judiciary No-Party Platform Target

Three hundred leaders of the Brundage-Denney Republicans and the Democratic county organization, representing every ward in Chicago and all the country towns in Cook county, adopted the platform for the coalition judicial ticket yesterday. It was called a "declaration of independence for the bench," and reads as follows:

We, the legally constituted representatives of hundreds of thousands of Republican voters and of the entire Democratic electorate, meeting here today, find ourselves united in a common cause.

Holding as we do divergent views on national issues, we find that this difference of opinion in no way prevents our cooperation in the present campaign, in which national issues do not and should not play any part. There is only one great question to be decided in the present judicial election.

That is: Shall men of tried integrity and capability, belonging to both great political parties, be driven from the bench of Cook county because they refuse to do the will of political tyrants so soon may be made for the obscure creatures of these autocrats who, if elected, would make justice a mockery?

Judiciary Not a Party Issue.
This can be no party issue. The Republicans who follow the leadership of Lincoln, Grant, Roosevelt, and Harding have the same answer to this question as the Democrats who are the disciples of Jefferson, Jackson, and Wilson. All like they love justice and hate tyranny. They find themselves united as did the framers of the constitution, who carefully wrote into that document the checks aimed to prevent the concentration in one hand of the administrative, legislative, and judicial powers.

Alas! they protest against the brazen attempt upon the independence of the judiciary now being made by a shameless coterie composed of the off-scourings of all political parties.

Points to City Hall Record.
They point to the record of that coterie as an indication of what may be expected should it obtain control of the judiciary of Cook county. Briefly that record is:

Piling of bond issue upon bond issue, forcing the increase of taxes, rents, and the cost of living.
Extravagance, waste, and the bankrupting of the city government.
Demoralization of the police force, with a consequent increase of crime.
The fostering of vice and lawlessness for the sake of profit.

The arraying of class against class and race against race, with resultant lawlessness, rioting, and loss of life.

The juggling and withholding of primary and election returns.
Establishment of new and arbitrary taxes under the guise of "licenses."

Private trucking to public utility corporations that it publicly denounces.

put into the field this afternoon, when it holds two conventions, both of which are subject to legal attack. They are the conventions of the "Francis committee" and the "Barrett committee," and they will be held at 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock at the Great Northern.

The Brundage-Denney Third Ward Republican club and the Third Ward Democratic club last night held meetings and endorsed the coalition judicial ticket.

POISON KILLA WOMAN.
Mrs. Josephine Burns, 31, 1348 West Jackson, who yesterday was charged with poisoning her husband, died at 2 o'clock. She said she had taken the tablets by mistake.

HUGHES WARNS PANAMA TO QUIT COSTA RICA LAND

If You Don't We'll Act, Note States.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Unless Panama acts voluntarily within "a reasonable time," the United States will take measures to compel her to transfer jurisdiction of the disputed Coto territory to Costa Rica, Secretary Hughes says in a recent note to the Panama government. The text of the document was made public today at the state department.

"This government believes that it would be inadvisable to interpret its obligations to the republic of Panama as embracing an obligation to support any claims for adjoining territory which might be advanced by Panama, no matter what the opinion of this government might be as to the validity of justice of these claims," the note says.

The Panamanian claim, that its title to the disputed territory had been unchallenged since colonial times, still remains, in the opinion of the American government, the territory of Costa Rica, and is to be respected as such.

After stating that America desires Panama to take steps to turn over the territory to Costa Rica, the note says: "Unless such steps are taken within a reasonable time, this government will find itself compelled to proceed in the manner which may be requisite to assure itself that the exercise of jurisdiction is appropriately transferred and that the boundary line on the Pacific side, as determined by the award by the chief justice of the United States, is physically laid down in the manner provided in articles 2 and 3 of the Porras-Anderson treaty."

That territory "adjudged to be a portion of Costa Rica," the note declares, in accordance with a "boundary line which Panama had formally declared clear and indisputable, still remains, in the opinion of the American government, the territory of Costa Rica, and is to be respected as such."

BATTEN

Where do you get your opinions?

TALK freely with any group of strangers (say in a Pullman smoking room) and you will be struck with the thought that very few men think up their own opinions.

That is true of everybody. Our opinions are formed out of stuff we read and hear, pieced out with experience and reinforced by having friends express similar views.

One man's experience is too little in this big world for him to roll his own opinions on a thousand different subjects. So he forms his opinion largely from what seems to be the general opinion of his associates.

So true is this that the man who forms all his opinions independently and never borrows from others is looked upon as an "opinionated cuss."

Then where does the Public get Public Opinion?

From the newspapers, from editorials and advertisements, from books and magazines and advertisements, and from the talk of people who read these things.

The editor and the author try to mould public opinion about politics, manners, and the news. Some of the men who do national advertising try to mould favorable public opinion about their goods. Not all of them succeed. Quite a number are so carried away by the idea of selling that they do not see that a favorable public opinion is the foundation and frame of any great selling effort.

When you start in to mould public opinion, it is like starting in to mould anything else.

You must know when you begin what shape you want it to take. You must know that the opinion you seek is a possible normal shape for an opinion—a shape that will last—not an impossible, abnormal shape that won't stand knocks and wear.

And you must keep on moulding. If you slow down or stop, the material won't go on moulding itself. It will "set" in just the condition you left off and be merely a shapeless, unfinished effort, so discouraging to contemplate that you may leave it to stronger hands than yours to finish as they please.

ONCE a month, or more frequently, we issue a publication called Batten's Wedge. Each issue is devoted to a single editorial on some phase of business. If you are a business executive and would like to receive copies, write us.

OWNERS REJECT HOOVER PLAN IN MARINE STRIKE

Walkouts Affect Many Ships, 12 Liners.

New York, May 2.—The suggestion of Secretary Hoover that the controversy over the marine wage contract be submitted to arbitration by a commission of three men, not government officers, was rejected here today by the American Steamship Owners' association.

This action stopped one plan for an settlement of a nation wide shipping strike by a majority of American ships on the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf coasts.

Walkouts in response to the calls of the union leaders began in all ports today. In New York more than 100 ships were directly affected. Reports to the Steamship Owners' association were, however, that many of the employees were remaining loyal.

Dozen Liners Are Affected.

Of these ships more than a dozen are liners, one of which is scheduled to sail tomorrow for London. The Western, Southern Pacific, and other coastwise lines received notice from many of their men that they would strike.

Winthrop L. Martin, general manager of the Steamship Owners' association, said approximately 40 per cent of American flag tonnage was idle—due to lack of cargo offerings. His estimate was that 65,000 men would strike. The estimate of the union leaders was 125,000.

The full effect of the strike, if it reaches the proportions union leaders expect, will not be apparent for several days. Monday is a light day in sailing.

It was announced tonight by Thomas B. Healy of the Atlantic and Gulf Engineers that one line operating five passenger ships to Danzig and two lines of freight steamers out of New York had signed an agreement with the union.

Harding Keeps Hands Off.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—President Harding has declined to interfere in the marine labor controversy and the shipping board declined its efforts today to keeping its ships in operation. The board proposes to fill the ranks that may be depleted by refusal to work.

Only two shipping board ships were able to leave port today because of lack of help. Admiral Benson reported. He declared he was standing on his proposal of a 15 per cent reduction of wages while he was not seeking negotiations with the men they were free to come to him and discuss the situation. The board in effect is standing for the "open shop" policy.

Se Ships Idle at Galveston.

Galveston, Tex., May 2.—Six United States shipping board vessels are tied up in the port of Galveston.

Partly Effective in West.

San Francisco, Cal., May 2.—The marine strike was partly effective today in Pacific ports. The steamer Eelock was held at Seattle; West Hiram, at Portland, Ore., loaded with flour for Europe had almost a full crew.

Some Get Away at St. Johns.

St. Johns, N. F., May 2.—Shipping was tied up today, but many vessels were able to get away.

VIVE LA FRANCE!

That's What These Two Say,
Because They Met There as Wounded Marine and War
Nurse. They're Married Now.

CAPT. AND MRS. E. F. DUNK.

CAPT. E. F. DUNK of 2720 North Richmond street, an officer of the 75th company, 6th marines, had been wounded in the left leg. Miss Mary McKay of Washington, D. C., was attached to the First Red Cross hospital. And that is how they met at Neuilly, France, during the last days of the war.

Capt. Dunk, with his Croix de Guerre, a French war cross and a Belgian citation, but without his left leg, was transferred to a hospital in Brooklyn. N. Y. Miss Mary McKay also was transferred.

And so it happened that Capt. Dunk drove down to Washington to marry Miss McKay on April 23. They will motor back soon to the captain's new home at 2720 North Richmond street.

HEARINGS START ON CURB FOR PACKING TRADE

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Hearings on the meat packer control bill were begun today by the house committee on agriculture. They will be continued the greater part of the week. The plan is to report out a bill similar to the measure under consideration at the last session in the near future.

Representative Anderson of Minnesota declared court congestion makes it impossible to leave regulation of the packing industry to such procedure as might be instituted by the department of justice.

The opposition to the measure will be heard beginning Wednesday, and numerous business organizations have protested. The committee expects to take a vote at the end of the hearings on the question of whether or not the house should pass packer legislation at this session.

The senate subcommittee which has been reexamining the Kenyon-Kendrick bill passed at the last session of the senate expects to complete its work and make its report to the whole committee Wednesday. It is probable that the subcommittee will recommend the measure without change and that the whole committee will promptly ratify its report.

Beginning a Sale of 1,700 MEN'S SUITS At Exceptional Prices

In two ways is this sale unusual: [1] in the clothes themselves and [2] in the pricing. Price is only a factor when that which is obtained for the price amounts to something. And in just such ratio is this sale an extraordinary occasion, for it brings 1,700 suits of present-wear weights for men and young men, at prices which have not been noted in a long time on clothes of such splendid fabrics, so well made.

340 Suits at $37.50

Here are single- and double-breasted styles for men and young men, of all-wool cassimeres, cheviots, flannels and serges, plain and in fancy mixtures, as well as pencil stripes and checks.

430 Suits at $58.50

Single- and double-breasted styles and several sports models are included. Of unfinished worsteds, homespuns and cheviots in stripe effects, herringbone and plain and fancy mixtures.

510 Suits at $48.50

New styles for men and young men—suits with single- and double-breasted coats, of tweeds, unfinished worsteds, cheviots and serges, in the preferred patterns of this season.

420 Suits at $67.50

New styles for men and young men, of finest domestic and foreign fabrics, in over-plaid effects, checks, stripes, herringbone and fancy mixtures. All exceptionally well tailored.

In each of the four featured groupings, splendid choice is offered, in all sizes for men and young men. We feel certain that men and young men particular about the clothes they wear, will judge this sale one of those opportunities which should not be missed.

determine whether Newberry was elected; two, as to whether in that election there was anything that would disqualify him from serving as a senator." Senator Spencer said he thought the investigation would be renewed in about two weeks, and that it would be disposed of quickly.

The Majority Opinion.

"The ultimate question for solution here," said Justice McReynolds, reading the majority opinion, "is whether under the grant of power to regulate the manner of holding elections congress may fix the maximum sum which a candidate therein may spend, or advise or cause to be contributed and spent by others to procure his nomination."

"We find no support in reason or authority for the argument that, because the offices were created by the constitution, congress has some indefinite, undefined power over elections for senators and representatives not derived from section 4."

Justice Pitney, speaking also for Justices Brandeis and Clarke, said: "I concur in the judgment reversing the conviction of plaintiffs in error, but upon grounds fundamentally different from those adopted by the majority; my view being that there is no constitutional infirmity in the act of congress that underlies the indictment, but that there was an error in the submission of the case to the jury that calls for a new trial."

"Grievous Misapplication." Chief Justice White said: "Although I am unable to concur

The chief justice, referring to the majority contention that congress was without authority to regulate primaries, declared "the proposition is a suicidal one," and predicted new legislation that would set aside today's decision.

How Many Cars Do You Expect to Buy in Five Years?

If you buy a car one year to sell the next year, and so on, you are going to get tired of that.

You can break that expensive habit by buying a Standard Eight. This car appeals to the family that buys a car to use and wants the maximum of use from it.

It is made by the Standard Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh, a company which has manufactured railroad rolling stock for years and sold it on the basis of its utility.

The Standard Eight automobile is made and sold as a powerful, useful, enduring car, made by a powerful company.

REO Breaks Another Record

The Chicago Branch of the Reo Motor Car Company has again broken its previous high record for monthly deliveries.

In October, 1920, all previous records were broken by the delivery of 174 new Reo cars and Speed Wagons. Deliveries for the month of April, 1921, eclipsed the October record—the new mark being 186.

This not only establishes a new monthly record for this Branch, but it represents a very substantial increase over the business done in April, 1920, and a 20% increase over the business done in March of this year.

Daily we are asked how we are able not only to maintain a normal volume of business, but to be hanging up new records. To us the answer is fairly obvious:

First of all, we have a product whose popularity is constantly increasing. Our Speed Wagon admittedly is without a competitor, while our line of passenger cars is rapidly coming to be recognized as being the standard in its price class.

Then there is the question of price. Our prices always have been—always will be—based upon cost of production. We add no abnormal profit when the "going is good," so we have no inflated margin to lop off when the buying is less keen. Incidentally, so closely priced is our product that we have no "special concessions" to offer, either in the way of a cut price or in "extras." The most inexperienced purchaser may buy from us with absolute assurance that he is getting the same treatment, the same price, the same quality—the same bargain in every particular—that would be accorded the wisest of connoisseurs and the shrewdest of buyers.

Finally, we select as dealers only those who believe in the traditions of the Reo Motor Car Company; who are imbued with the same ideals of honesty and fair dealing; and whose policies—both as to price, service and integrity—are consistent with our own.

Today, more than ever before, the prospective purchaser of an automobile should consider carefully the character, the reputation and the probable permanency of the company whose product he buys.

We invite the most careful investigation of the record of this company.

PLEA FOR INLAND WATERWAYS BY JOHN M. PARKER

Mississippi Valley Needs Told at Convention.

New Orleans, La., May 2.—The importance of inland waterway development in the United States, particularly in the Mississippi valley region, was emphasized by speakers at the opening session here today of the third annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association.

John M. Parker, governor of Louisiana, in the keynote speech, declared it time for the voters of the country to get behind these in authority and obtain legislation which would make it possible for "all the waterways to be developed rather than a few points of particular interest to certain members of congress."

Europe Surpasses U.S.

He said waterway development in the United States was so low as to make comparison with activities in European countries, notably France, humiliating.

Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, Missouri congressman and a member of the house rivers and harbors committee, blamed most of the problems confronting the people today to high cost of freight transportation, and declared the solution was in inland waterways development.

How to Lower H. C. of L.

"Cut down the cost of transportation and you cut down the living expenses, give the producers and manufacturers something they can sell at a price people can afford to pay for it, and you have the solution," he said.

H. H. Merrick of Chicago, president of the association, in his annual report and particular emphasis on the Mississippi river large line, urged liberal patronage, and promised support to the association to its activities.

Another plea for better waterways transportation came from Katherine Emma Gould, president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Flirting Cop Suspended by Chief Fitzmorris

Patrolman John W. Kozob of the Maxwell street station was suspended by Chief Fitzmorris yesterday. Kozob is charged with having made improper advances to several women while patrolling his beat.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

COMMENCING THIS MORNING—

A Tremendous Selling During May of the Finest American Furniture

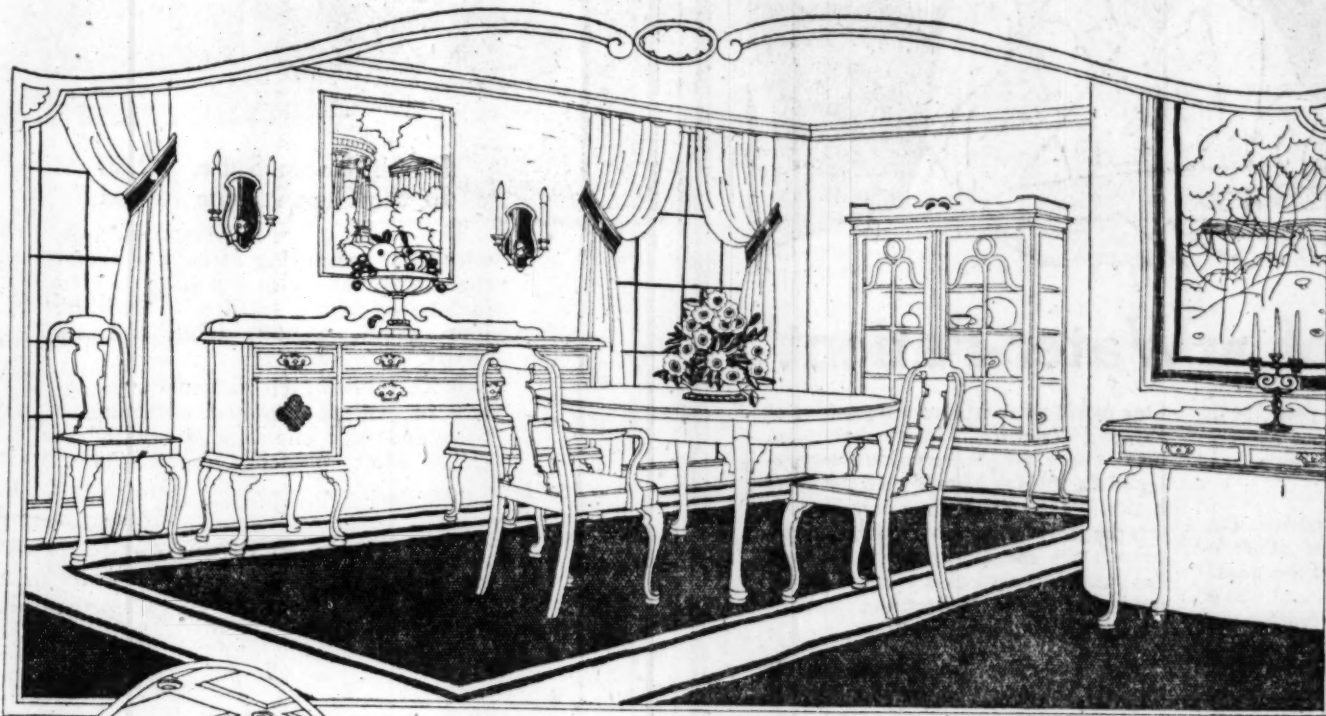

Today Commences in Our Furniture Section an Event of Interest to Every Man or Woman Who Uses Furniture

IT IS a Selling of several thousands of pieces of the finest Furniture made in America, the product of several factories, at prices far below the retail figures which have prevailed on merchandise of like character.

There are Suites and Odd Pieces for Bedroom, Dining Room, and Living Room varying from high to low price levels, and in a variety of designs to please practically every taste. Many of these pieces bear the Shop Mark of Berkey & Gay. The few Suites shown here are typical.

Eighth Floor

'Round the House—

Ask the Furnished Rooms—

THE Twenty-six Rooms on the Eighth Floor can answer a great number of the questions of decoration and furnishing which puzzle many people. A walk through them—and perhaps a few words with our Interior Decorating Service—may help you solve a problem.

Eighth Floor.

Odd-Shaped Ware from Brittany

THE great caps, the wooden shoes, the fairy-story charm of Brittany live in these crudely fashioned pieces of peasant pottery from Quimper. There are glowing colors, archaic designs, which have a charm not always possessed by more sophisticated wares.

Second Floor.

No Cap and Apron Talks This Week

THIS week the Girl devotes to answering correspondence, making plans, tests, and such work. An interesting series for May starts next Tuesday.

Quaint Jugs, Vases and Low Fluted Bowls

A NEW Italian Pottery brings these picturesque reproductions of old pieces. The colors are the cool greens and blues so particularly delightful for Summer homes where every nook and corner of the house and porches seems to need something to hold the wealth of Summer flowers and fruit.

Articulate Section, Second Floor.

Remember Mr. Polly's "Lil Dog"?

THESE Pups are kin to him and the famous "glass dog." Huneker tells of—they are of glass, with gleaming, stony eyes, and they are made to guard the papers on your desk. 35c each.

Articulate Section, Second Floor.

Life and Color from Czechoslovakia

THERE is scarcely enough of the new Czechoslovak Glass to supply all demands, but it is too beautiful to pass without notice. Notably some of the pieces, in clear, pale lavender—and the gorgeously engraved red and white bowls—and the pieces painted with tiny dancing silhouettes.

Glass Section, Second Floor.

The Flower Paintings of Carle Blenner

STOP in the Galleries and see these remarkable Paintings. Each one a study in color and proportion, each a beautiful bit of decoration, in exquisite taste and balance.

Galleries, Second Floor.

Venetian Sunsets Reflected in New Glass

MARVELOUS colorings indeed, and graceful shapes and dainty workmanship in every piece of the new Venetian Glass that is displayed under the gavel on the Second Floor.

Piles of Pillows Make a Comfy Porch

If you pile a dozen or so of soft, colorful cretonne Pillows on your porch this Summer, you can be sure they will find use. Nothing like having enough to make all your callers comfortable—and how their colorful cheeriness helps the usually bleak porch! $2.75 to $4.25.

Fifth Floor.

The Cheney Phonograph and New Records

HEAR any new Record twice—on some other machine and then on the Cheney. It will help you make up your mind about the Record—and about the Cheney.

Fifth Floor.

Pyrex Casseroles Reduced—First Time

THE Household Utilities Section has secured a lot of oval and round engraved Pyrex Casseroles, in a beautiful design, which are being sold at a fraction of the usual retail price. There are quart, quart-and-a-half, and two-quart sizes, at $2.65, $2.75, and $2.85.

Ninth Floor.

Hepplewhite Suite of Pure Design

THIS Bedroom Suite is in mahogany—a Berkey and Gay product.
Bed, full or 3/4 size, $75.
Bureau, 50-in., $105.
Vanity Dresser, $98.
Chest of Drawers, $60.
Toilet Mirror, $27.50.

Box Springs and Mattresses

Upholstered Box Springs, of standard materials, covered with high-grade ticking, special, $35, $42.50, $50.
Long Curled Hair Mattresses, full size, covered with high-grade ticking, $45, $50, and $62.50. Smaller sizes in proportion. (All reduced for this Selling.)

Ninth Floor.

A Queen Anne Design of Unusual Grace

THE simple lines of the best examples of true Queen Anne Furniture, which leave to the wood and the finish an important share of the beauty of the piece, are found in this Dining Suite from Berkey and Gay.

The following prices for so excellent a Suite exemplify values in this Selling:

72-in. Sideboard, shown, $138. 60-in. Sideboard, wood back, China Cabinet, $87.50.

60-in. Sideboard, mirror, $100. 54-in. Table, extending to 8 ft. Armchair, $27.

Side Table, $55. 54-in. Table, extending to 8 ft. with two apron leaves, $85. (Chairs have mohair seats.)

A Sumptuous Italian Dining Set

Newby walnut, set off by contrasting ebonyed blocks, is entirely in keeping with the dignified Renaissance lines of this Suite. Buffet, 72-in., $128; Server, $75; Cabinet, $88; Table, 56x44 in. drawing to 8 ft., $92; Chairs, each, $23; Armchair, $28. Chairs have haircloth seats.

A Beautiful Sheraton Living Room Suite

THIS Suite, with velour covering of excellent quality, has cushions covered in tapestry. The pieces are luxuriously upholstered, yet retain a formal dignity and excellent lines. The Sofa, $195; the Armchair, $85; High-Backed Chair, $95. The Table in mahogany, $159.

Mahogany Bedroom Suite

Note the simple, straight lines of this Suite, which in the original give full opportunity for showing the beauty of the wood. Full-sized Bed, $55; Bureau, $48-in., $82; Chest of Drawers, $65; Dressing Table, $55; Night Stand, $16; Bench, $15; Rocker, $23; Chair, $22.

Overstuffed Berkey and Gay Suite

This Suite, sketched below at the right, is covered with velour, and has spring edge Sofa, with reversible down cushions on all pieces. The Sofa is $195; the Armchair, $120. The same pieces in tapestry.

Louis XVI Suite of Exquisite Grace

THIS Suite has a Sofa and Armchairs, hair-filled, with velour cover and reversible down cushions. The Sofa is $275 and the Armchair $159. The Table, at $119, measures 66x30 inches; the Desk is $119; the Bookcase is $110. All these pieces in walnut, rubbed to a rich finish with wax—they are pieces of the utmost distinction.

An Armchair, $39

It is beautifully carved and shaped, with mahogany arms and back, and figured blue denim seat. Rocker to match, same price.

Keeping the Summer Home Bright and Colorful

Reed Lamps for the Sun Parlor

Here are two from a wide selection of Reed Lamps, small and large, which are being shown as suited to the semi-outdoor life of the porch and sun parlor. The one shown is $17.50; others $9 to $65 ea.

Eighth Floor.

A Beautiful New Iced Tea Set, $10

THE shape of the Pitcher, long, narrow, graceful, is new; the Glasses are charming in their suggestion of primitive simplicity. Clear, deep blue glass, with handle and bases of white glass. Stirrer, at $1.50, has a red ring and a red tip; Spoons, also of glass, have yellow, red, or blue tips and bowls; 25c each.

Second Floor.

Richly Colored Lustre Ware, Special

Suited for Lamp Bases are some fine Lustre Vases, just arrived from the Orient, where they were made to our order. One, 12 in. high, is in turquoise blue, apricot, yellow and green; another, sketched, is 10 in. high; $8.50. Bowl shown, apricot or blue, $5.

Articulate Section, Second Floor.

"For 1921—Better Rugs—Better Values—Better Service"

Wool Wilton Rugs, 9x12, $75

THERE is a number of these Rugs in good-looking patterns, Oriental adaptations and small all-over designs, at this interestingly low price. In addition, there are 9x12 Worsted Wiltons at $85.

Heavy Loom-Tufted Rugs, with a thick, wear-resisting pile and dull, distinctive designs, are special, in the 9x12 size, at $90. Smaller sizes: 9x10.6, $87.50; 6.9x9, $75; 27x54 in., $11.50.

Magnificent Oriental Rugs Are Arriving

SOME of the very fine Rugs from Persia, which have been so scarce for many years, are again finding their way back to our floors. Among the most recent arrivals are some heavy silky Mahals, Araks, and Sarooks, finer and better value than we have seen for many a day.

Mahals, about 9x12, $550. Araks, about 9x12, $550. Sarooks, about 9x12, $1000.

Third Floor, Wabash Avenue.

Beautify Your Windows with Sunfast Fabrics

THE windows of a house invite the first look of a visitor. If the draperies are faded the effect of an entire window is spoiled. Our Sunfast fabrics defy the sun and the laundry, remaining always bright and fresh as when new. We have them in a wonderful variety of artistic designs and colorings to harmonize with any scheme of decoration.

Prices $2.50 to $6 a yard.

Colonial Cretonnes at 50c Yard

Any woman who wishes to beautify her home and make it distinctive can do so by using Colonial Drapery Fabrics.

It is a simple matter to make Colonial Cretonne curtains as well as other useful cretonne articles that fit successfully with any plan or color scheme.

Five thousand yards, in a remarkable assortment of interesting designs and colorings, at 50 cents a yard.

Fifth Floor.

Oil Opaque Shades, Special, 95c

First quality, mounted on standard wooden rollers, complete, including brackets, at this price. Size, 36 in. wide, 7 feet long.

Seven colors.

Upholstery and Drapery Fabrics, Fifth Floor.

CROWN FORCES KILL 7 IRISH IN SUNDAY FIGHTS

Lord Talbot Takes Oath as Viceroy of Ireland.

CORK, May 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—Seven persons were killed Sunday by the police and members of the military forces in clashes in Counties Cork and Tipperary.

In an ambush of crown forces in Kildorrey, County Cork, two Irish republicans were killed and five others captured, two of whom were wounded. There were no crown casualties in the fighting, which lasted an hour and a half.

A police patrol which was fired on from a house in Tipperary returned the fire, killing two men. One of them, James Maloney, is said to have been the son of P. J. Maloney, Sinn Féin member of the British house of commons from the south division of Tipperary. The other was Sean Duffy, chairman of the Tipperary board of guardians. Some ammunition was captured in the house.

One man was shot dead when crown forces surprised a band of men destroying a culvert near Lisacarrill, County Cork.

Two men were shot dead when they tried to escape from a farm house near Limerick Junction, County Tipperary, during an exchange of shots with police who were approaching the building.

Create New Viceroy Today.
DUBLIN, May 2.—A new chapter in Irish history, in many respects the most momentous in generations, will be recorded this week with the inauguration of the new home rule partition act. This will mark the end of the act of the union, under which Ireland has been governed from Westminster for 120 years. The week will also witness the inauguration of Lord Talbot, the new lord lieutenant, who is the first Catholic to hold that office in recent times.

The Irish people appear to await these important events with the utmost indifference.

Lord Edmund Bernard Talbot, who is now Viscount Fitzalan, was sworn in today as lord lieutenant and governor general of Ireland. The ceremony, which took place in Dublin castle, followed precedent, but was attended only by high officials.

The new viceroy arrived here this morning.

Ulster Elections Near.
BELFAST, May 2.—It is understood the parliament for north Ireland will be summoned to assemble in Belfast the first week in June, the exact date to be announced in next Friday's Dublin Gazette. The Ulster nomination date is May 13 and the polling date May 24.

There will be a separate summoning of the southern parliament to sit in Dublin fourteen days after the assembling of the northern parliament. It is expected the election proceedings for the southern districts will develop few contests.

Peace Talk Revived.
LONDON, May 2.—John J. Farrell, former lord mayor of Dublin, says a Central News dispatch from Dublin today, announced in that city that he was submitting to the Irish republican parliament a "semi-official" peace offer, which he described as "the biggest ever suggested from any British government."

Ex-Mayor Farrell said the offer came from an important public man who last week in London sought an interview with him. He declared he was unable to give the details of the proposal.

U. S. TO DEMAND RED RUSSIA FREE YANK HOSTAGES

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Definite action to effect the release of all American citizens held by soviet Russia as hostages to compel the recognition of the Moscow government by this country, will shortly be taken by the state department.

About twenty-five Americans, including Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carlson of Chicago, and their two children, Edward, 9, and an infant less than a year old, are in Moscow. The total number in all Russia does not exceed 100, and of these about seventy-five are Russian wives and children of naturalized American citizens or alleged naturalized Americans, the question of whose citizenship is under investigation.

Although the department is not prepared now to announce the means to be adopted to compel the release of the Americans, about six or eight of whom are actually in prison, it may be stated positively that there will be no recognition of the Moscow government nor any direct negotiation with its representatives.

HOW DID THEY GET AWAY WITH IT?
Thieves who pried open a door to the storeroom of S. S. Kresge company's store at 227 South State street some time between Saturday night and yesterday, stole about $2,000 worth of merchandise, according to E. A. Messner, the store manager.

"Confessions of a Water-Patient"

Under the above title, in the year 1845, Lord Bulwer-Lytton the famous author, wrote of the way in which his health had been improved by water.

Said Bulwer-Lytton: "We ransack the ends of the earth for drugs and minerals—we extract our potions from the deadliest poisons—but around us and about us, Nature, the great mother proffers the Hygeian fount, unsealed and accessible to all. Wherever the stream glides pure, wherever the spring sparkles fresh, there, for the vast proportion of the maladies which Art produces, Nature yields the benignant healing."

PARADISE WATER

One would think Milord were writing of Paradise Water itself, for the description fits. Today, people everywhere are turning to Paradise as Nature's builder up of health. They drink it not only because it is the purest water on record, but because it aids specifically in the relief of constipation, intestinal disorders, kidney trouble, articular rheumatism, prostatic trouble and similar disorders.

There is nothing like Paradise on the market. Drink six glasses every day for a month, and see for yourself. You'll enjoy it, too, for this peer-of-table waters has a delightful taste. Just try a case!

SENATE TO PRINT IRISH APPEAL TO U. S. CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., May 2.—The senate today referred to the foreign relations committee, on motion of Senator Frank B. Rowan, a copy of "an address to the American congress by the people of Ireland." The senate also granted Mr. Borah's request that the address be printed as a public document.

"On Dec. 14, 1918," the address says, "the principles of the government of England during the great war and seeing in the application of these principles a ready means of arriving at a peaceful settlement of their own civil strife, the Irish people declared by an overwhelming majority at the polls for an independent Irish republic.

Form Own Government.

"Acting on the mandate thus expressly given by this national plebiscite, carried out under the forms and laws prescribed by England herself, the people elected representatives assembled on Jan. 21, 1919, formally proclaimed the nation's independence, and declared the republic of Ireland duly established."

The result of this, the address declares, was that:

"Troops and engines of destruction that for four years had been engaged on the continent of Europe in the cause of the rights of small nations, it was said, and the fundamental principles of democracy, were rushed to Ireland and used to trample on those very rights and to strangle that very principle in the name of which they had been enrolled and employed."

Blames Britain for Murders.

The address says that for two years the Irish people did not fight back, but that in that time "seven unarmed citizens were willfully murdered by the armed agents of the English government, which openly incited the murders and encouraged the murderers with rewards and promotion."

The Irish appeal declares that regular British troops could not be relied on in Ireland, and that:

"The ex-convict from the jails, however, and the degenerate back from the trenches, in whose breast the savagery of the late war had extinguished the last sparks of humanity, could be depended upon to have few qualms in dealing with their victims, and to cause little embarrassment to those in high authority among their employers by any nice regard for nominal discipline."

"A special force of these fiends was accordingly embodied. They were let loose upon an unarmed and defenseless populace."

"An orgy of murder and robbery began. Neither age nor sex nor profession was respected. Old men of 80 and little children, of 5, sick and crippled boys, mothers and wives, even appointed ministers of God, were indiscriminately murdered—the breadwinner before the eyes of his family and the mother with the child at her breast at the cottage door. Houses, offices, work shops, factories, and creameries were plundered and destroyed. Towns and villages were sacked and burned down.

The home of the farmer and the home of the artisan, the shop, the store, the office were looted and given to the flames."

What the Irish Want.

As to what the Irish want, the address says:

"The Irish people claim no more than their right as a nation to determine freely for themselves how they shall be governed. We, their official spokesmen—their elected parliament and government—call mankind to witness that our people have ever been ready to welcome peace with England on that just basis."

"On no other basis is peace possible. We shall not surrender our national right, nor will force compel us."

"Our cause is the common cause of humankind. To that cause we have pledged ourselves and our people to remain faithful unto death."

"You, the representatives of a sister nation, cannot, we feel, be insensible to the issue."

ENGINEER'S POST TO U. OF I. MAN.

The national board of directors of the American Association of Engineers at a meeting here yesterday tendered the position of national secretary of its student chapters to Julian Nardi of the University of Illinois. Mr. Nardi accepted.

OYSTER'S ESTATE FALLS TO $87,000 IN PROBATE COURT

Washington, D. C., May 2.—A net valuation of approximately $87,000 was placed on the estate of the late George M. Oyster by his executor today in filing application for probate. Mr. Oyster was generally supposed to have been a millionaire and was so described at the time of his marriage recently to Cecile Ready Oyster, aged 26 years. He was 72 years old when he died at Atlantic City soon after the marriage.

By a codicil executed on his deathbed Mr. Oyster provided a bequest of $25,000 for his widow in lieu of any other claim against the estate.

4 TOBACCONISTS HELD ON CHARGE OF TAX FRAUDS

With the arrest yesterday of four members of the firm of Jacob Sutter & Sons, tobacco dealers at 128 West Lake street, special agents of the treasury department announced the frustration of a $60,000 importation tax fraud. Those arrested are Jacob Sutter and his sons, Raymond, Clarence, and Walter, the latter being Havana agent for the firm. All were arraigned before United States Commissioner Lewis F. Mason and held under bonds.

The arrests followed an investigation by T. A. Williams of the treasury department. He reported that in July, 1920, five tons of tobacco labeled "Bills" were shipped from Havana to Chicago. A tax of 35 cents a pound had been paid. It is charged the shipment was of "wrapper" tobacco, on which the government tax is $1.85 a pound.

Assistant District Attorney James A. Miller characterized the fraud as the largest discovered by the government in recent years in tobacco importation. Deputy Marshal William H. Street made the arrests.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

WEEKS APPROVES HERO MEMORIALS OF LIVING GREEN

The sum of all is, Paradise itself has a kind of memorial temple or grave planted by God Himself to man.

WILLIAM JOHN EVELYN.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

W. Weeks, secretary of war, has sanctioned The Tribune's plan to plant memorial trees along the national highways to all the soldiers, sailors and marines of the late war, but the national highways will be lined with trees and shrubs memorial to these men, who have been doing something of the world in a small way in my name. The point that each tree should bear the name and regiment of one soldier is emphasized. How best and most permanently to place this mark is a question to be worked out. J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who represents 1,250,000 farmers, declares trees planted along highways are an advantage and can do no harm to crops unless they are planted too close together.

"At forty feet apart they cannot harm the crops with their shade," he said, "and they do a wonderful amount of good in summer by shading the hot roads and making them pleasant to drive upon. The walnut is a great tree for this kind of planting. It grows high and hasn't too much foliage. It also is an economic gain, as any nut bearing trees would be."

Tree Growers Offer Aid.

Nursery associations throughout the country have offered to help by furnishing trees of the right age for half price, or the cost of digging and taking them to the planting places. Some have offered to give a number of trees outright, and the state nurseries made generous offers.

The American Lumberman, in its May 7 issue, will contain an article signed by Thomas E. Coale of Philadelphia, one of the leading lumbermen in the east, asking that all lumbermen get behind The Tribune's idea and help it along. The Tribune's editorial of April 22 is reprinted and underneath Mr. Coale says: "What could be more appropriate than that all lumbermen get behind this noble suggestion and help put it over to the memory of our manhood that took part in the war?"

Gives Tree Planting Hints.

At F. Osborn of Augusta, Ill., urges that the trees be not planted too close together. "On north and south roads they should be 50 to 60 feet apart," he says, "and on east and west roads 80 to 100 feet apart. We would not wish to thin out memorial trees, as they should be planted far enough apart so they will grow shapely and will not give an overabundance of shade." He says the branches of elms in Augusta sap at 50 feet apart and touch at 70 and 75 feet.

A. H. Porter, teacher in Our Lady of Help of Christians school, held a tree day for the fifth to eighth grades and the children promised to do their share in tree planting. Every child in the school had at least one relative in the war.

WITT NOW NAMED AS WEST CHICAGO CHIEF'S SLAYER

Du Page and Kane county authorities yesterday concentrated their efforts to apprehend James Witt, alias Joslyn, who, according to information in their possession, is the man who shot and killed Chief of Police George Reihm of West Chicago last Friday morning.

Due to conflicting stories told by Mrs. Leo Baume, under arrest as an accomplice, the police were misled and Witt got a three day start.

When Mrs. Baume learned her husband was not suspected of the murder she caused his arrest, confessing that he, Witt, and Henry Cooper had gone to West Chicago to steal lumber and that Witt shot Reihm.

Cooper is also at large.

MOVIE CASHIER ROBBED OF $3,000 IN HIS THEATER

Herman Stein, treasurer of the Senate theater at 3123 West Madison street, was counting several thousand dollars he was about to take to the next door bank yesterday when three men, two of them masked and armed, entered the box office. According to Stein's report, they forced him to turn his face to the wall while they raked the bills and stacks of silver into a sack.

The masked men then escaped in an automobile, while the third stood guard over the theater treasurer for five minutes, then sauntered out.

At the theater it was said a complete check on the loss had not been made, but the police report indicated the robbers had obtained about $3,000.

ASK LAWS TO NET STATE $50,000 IN INTEREST FEES

Support for two bills now pending before the legislature by which from $40,000 to $50,000 will be saved annually for the state is asked in a bulletin issued by the Citizens' association yesterday.

The two bills, one introduced by Senator Frank P. Sadler and the other by Representative Edward J. Smejkal, provide that all public officials and institutions must make full accounting and turn over to the state treasury every ten days all money collected by them. The bills are directed principally against the secretary of state.

Under the present law the secretary of state, who annually collects approximately $10,000,000 in motor vehicle fees and other miscellaneous fees, is required to turn this money into the state treasury every quarter. As a result the official, it is claimed, is able to convert to his own use many thousands of dollars in interest paid by the banks while the money is in his hands.

In the past few years the legislature has passed several bills concerning the payment of interest to the state, and the present bills will clean up the matter, according to the Citizens' association.

"It long has been generally recognized that the practice of allowing intermediate compensation for official service is unwise and demoralizing and that the people are entitled to know just what they are to pay to each public servant," the bulletin states. "While officials are entitled to a fair salary for their work, the public is equally entitled to have officers and legislators take cognizance of the fact that extravagant compensation in the form of interest earnings is directly contrary to the spirit if not the letter of the constitution."

MELLON KNOCKS PROPS FROM PLAN TO REVISE TAXES

Washington, D. C., May 2.—(Special.)—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's latest estimates of probable revenues and expenditures during the next fiscal year caused congressional leaders who have talked of eliminating objectionable taxes without providing substitutes to admit today there is no longer any chance of carrying out such a program.

The secretary's recommendation relative to revision of tax laws were anticipated and followed largely by the policies approved by the treasury department under the former administration.

The unexpected feature of his letter was the revision of estimates wiping out the surplus from current revenues, which it was proposed to apply toward the reduction of the floating debt.

Having eliminated this expected surplus, which, exclusive of public debt expenditures, had been estimated in former Secretary of the Treasury Houston's annual report to amount during the fiscal year 1922 to $82,110,773, the bottom has dropped out of the proposal to reduce taxes by that amount and applying it on the floating debt.

PHIL BARTHELME FOR RESTRICTED SUMMER BALL

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

"I am in favor of modification of the college amateur rule as applicable solely to baseball. If summer baseball is to be sanctioned by the proper authorities of the University of Michigan, the conference—namely, our faculty representatives, I am of the opinion that it should not go beyond playing on a commercial or town team."

Such is the stand taken by the respected athletic director at the University of Michigan, on the advisability of permitting college baseball players to play for money in the summer. The Wolverine director's long experience in intercollegiate athletics places him in a position to talk intelligently from every angle on the subject.

Like other athletic heads, Director Barthelme is not in favor of extending open permission to athletes in other branches of sport to take part in specialties for money. He also would like to see a fine line drawn on the limitations of the college baseball player and he believes it should not go beyond the town team.

Two Sides to Question.

"It is said that invariably there are two sides to every real question," Director Barthelme said. "And I believe this is true of the summer baseball problem."

"Any regulation which puts such a premium on a boy's honesty as does the present baseball rule is decidedly untenable. Upheld as he is by almost universal public acquiescence, if not approval, the college man feels entirely justified in deliberately lying when it comes to certifying to his amateur eligibility on presenting himself as a candidate for his college baseball team."

"One can readily see that there is possibility of abuse of the benign spirit and good intent of a modified summer baseball rule. A star football, track, or basketball man with little or no baseball ability might be carried as a summer baseball player at a remunerative salary."

Chance for Deplorable Effect.

"Such an evasion of the spirit and intent of the rule would have a most deplorable effect on intercollegiate athletics, the competitors themselves and right-minded followers of intercollegiate sports."

"I am satisfied that the great majority of those who attend our contests feel that college athletics are conducted on a high plane and they must in consequence accord credit to those organizations which possess the rule-making power and the college board who honestly endeavor to enforce these rules."

"If the faculty representatives of the western conference decide to adopt a modified summer baseball rule, it behooves every one who is really interested in intercollegiate sport to encourage and in fact assist in the rigid enforcement of such a rule."

Capt. Fisher Gives Views.

Ray Fisher, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds, who has succeeded Del Pratt as coach of this year's Michigan baseball team, is of the same belief as Director Barthelme. Coach Fisher in talking upon the subject asserted he was stating his personal thoughts and not those of the university.

"Let the boys play for money in the summer, but place certain restrictions on the class of baseball they are to play," Coach Fisher said. "Like a number of other interviews I have read, I am not in favor of them playing with teams in organized baseball."

CONLON AND EMMONS ADD STYLE AND ZIP TO SMOOTH HARVARD NINE

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Boston, Mass., May 2.—[Special.]—Because of the activity of a couple of youths around the keynote sack, the Harvard baseball team appears to be one of the strong ones of the east this year.

With the all-around work of Capt. Emmons at second and Jocko Conlon at short standing out prominently, the Crimson had little difficulty today in trimming Bowdoin, 4 to 1.

Conlon is easily the fastest college player in fielding. He has seen this season, though possibly not as strong a batter as Gagnon of Holy Cross. The Harvard lad isn't a bad fellow with the stick and, being wide awake and alert at the plate, he gets on as often as any of them.

A Whiz in Fielding.

In the field he is a whiz. He had seven chances in this game and handled them with a finish that was admirable. He is one college youth who acts as if he had grown up with the game. Instead of waiting to learn it from the coach after entering the university.

Capt. Emmons is hardly as brilliant, but is fast and sure, and seems always to do the right thing. Pater Emmons, a famous football hero of Harvard in the early nineties, sat in the grand stand and was well pleased with the actions of his son.

Coach Jack Slattery, an ex-big leaguer, sat on the bench and also was pleased, and realizes that the two boys around the middle bag are the only natural ball players he has on the squad.

Slab Men Made to Order.

Slattery has had to make players for all the other positions, and has done quite a job of it. Especially has he developed a good college hurler in Eddie Good, who was on the rubber in this instance. The boy has sufficient speed to make his fast ball effective, has a swell curve, and a side arm delivery besides, to give him quite a change of pace. Slattery has taught him just how to mix up all his stuff to get good results.

The chances are that if one kept watch long enough, he would see a college team break up the double steal some day. So far this year I haven't seen a team turn the trick, but believe with the alert pair on the Harvard infield, along with a well coached catcher, it might be done. There was no chance for Bowdoin to give them the chance today.

Aggressiveness Lacking.

Harvard's players seemed lacking in aggressiveness, not displaying nearly as much pep as Yale and Princeton, but it may have been largely because of the weak opposition and lack of interest in the contest. Like Yale, the Crimson players, excepting the pair at the keystone sack, play their baseball carefully and precisely as taught. There seems a lack of initiative.

"The team is a pretty good machine, that would wipe out most any rival when once it is wound up and turned loose upon the field. It would be interesting to see what it would do in a genuine work-up contest with the coach at home, sick in bed. Chances are young Jocko Conlon or Capt. Emmons would arise to the occasion, but many others might go all to smash."

The coach has developed quite a first baseman in Owen. In another year he ought to know what it's all about. Lincoln at third takes care of his places nicely and is a fair hitter.

Other Players to Call On.

Catcher Blair, who seems a bit temperamental, has a good pegging arm and knows something about batting. In the outfield are three good fly chasers, but all of them are bad hitters. Hallock is a nifty fielder with as strong a throwing arm as one can find in college circles, but he looked awful at bat.

"Reb" Russell and Ned Bigelow are the other pitchers of the squad. Bigelow, the star hockey player of Harvard, was first baseman a year ago. He is a southpaw and is expected to do big things in the combats with Yale and Princeton.

The Crimson today did almost everything right. Being in the lead all the way, they took chances on the bases and seldom failed. The defense never was confused and the pitcher was steady. Once he started some high goiked side arm stuff, but wasn't getting 'em over. The coach raised a warning finger and he settled right back into his steady stride. Looks like Harvard will make a fine record against the old rivals unless Conlon or Emmons should get hurt.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

In the opening round of the three cushion tournament at Foley's hall last night, Meserovich beat Young (26) 19 to 32. Barnes (29) will meet Kourakis (29) in the opening game tonight.

Two Chicago Billiard league matches were booked tonight. Capron, meeting Kenney at Recreation, and Carlin playing Moreau at the Recreation.

In a Chicago league match at Schuerman's last night, Martin Carlin defeated Jess Jacobs (42) 45 to 40, in 97 innings, getting high run of 4.

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER

by Frank Smith

"The boys cheat at summer baseball, let us forgive and reinstate them."

That is the attitude assumed by Athletic Director Jones of Wisconsin in connection with the present agitation to permit college players to compete at summer baseball for money in order that they may be self-supporting during the winter. In other words, boys, you have Mr. Jones' permission to go ahead and cheat and if you get caught he is willing to go to the front and give you "liberal consideration."

The stand taken by Mr. Jones is dead wrong, and we believe when he gives the subject deep and serious thought he will come to the same conclusion.

Did Mr. Jones intercede in the case of "Slicker" Parks? If he follows his preachings he should have done so, regardless of the fact that Parks was attending another university.

No doubt Mr. Jones will do his utmost to continue the conference "amateur" rule. We hope his conscience doesn't hurt him when he says, "Go ahead, boys, cheat a little when you find it necessary. I'll forgive you," or words to that effect. That attitude, taken by a man who is supposed to help mold the character of college students, is anything but helpful. If a minister preached the same kind of gospel he would be ousted from his church. We do not believe Mr. Jones' argument will meet with public or university approval.

We see by the papers that Mr. Ed Lewis of headlock fame, a southern another match with Dick Daviscourt. The last time he met Dick was up New York state way some place and Dick was reported as a hospital patient. Lewis wrestled Stecher just prior to that match and the report was sent out that Stecher wouldn't be able to enter the ring again for a year at least, and probably would be a cripple all his life. A couple of months later Stecher was at the mat game again. It's peculiar, isn't it—or is it—the quick recovery some of the "battered up" wrestling stars make?

NEW HANDICAP LIMIT FOR WOMEN'S EVENTS RULED BY W. W. G. A.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Several tucks were taken in the handicap limitations by the board of governors of the Women's Western Golf association at a session held yesterday at the home of Mrs. H. Hathaway Watson, president of the organization.

In open club tournaments only players with ratings of 18 or less will be eligible to compete. Last year the maximum limit was 21, and this mark will obtain in the Chicago city and western championships. In medal play the limit has been set from scratch to 24, the former top mark being 29.

A decision to make the western junior championship permanent is important, indicating that the W. W. G. A. realizes the value of early tournament experience for the golfing debutantes of this section. Sixteen will qualify for the match play rounds.

The entry fee for the western championship was left at $3, but in the city championship it will be $2.

No change in the rule passed last year which abolished the stymie was made. Clubs seeking dates should make application at once, as the schedule is filling rapidly.

HUFF AND "ZUP" TALK IN GOTHAM

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—George Huff, director of athletics at University of Illinois, and Robert C. Zuppke, head football coach, addressed a meeting of over 100 members of the New York Illini club today.

The team is a pretty good machine, that would wipe out most any rival when once it is wound up and turned loose upon the field. It would be interesting to see what it would do in a genuine work-up contest with the coach at home, sick in bed. Chances are young Jocko Conlon or Capt. ## CUTTING, U. S. STAR, ENTERS TITLE MATCH IN LONDON TENNIS

LONDON, May 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—C. S. Cutting, the American court tennis player, today won the right to meet

E. M. Baelelin, holder of the British court tennis championship, for the title on Wednesday by defeating C. N. Bruce in the final round of the court tennis tournament.

Cutting won in three straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-5.

Bruce took the first game, but Cutting captured the next three games. Bruce, playing well, made it three all.

Cutting, however, got on to his game and with some beautiful forehand strokes, under the grill, and by keeping good length with his service, won the first set.

Good Rallies in Second Set.

In the second set Bruce, keeping a good serving length, again took the initial game. After this there were some splendid rallies. Subsequently, Cutting's service and low strokes to the side wall off the tambour began to tell, and although Bruce put in some good work and picked the ball up over the ground in fine style, Cutting frequently had him at a disadvantage and eventually won.

The third set was most strenuously contested, both Cutting and Bruce playing magnificently. All kinds of strokes were employed. Frequently it was two all, three all, and four all. Bruce was at the top of his form, while Cutting was not quite so sure in his methods.

Bruce Weakens, Beaten.

Toward the end, however, Bruce weakened somewhat, and Cutting, by playing freely, won the set and the match.

Baelelin, whom Cutting meets Wednesday for the championship, was not required to play through the present tournament.

Camp Grant Organizes for Golfing and Polo

Rockford, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—Organization of the Sixth Division Golf association has been completed at Camp Grant with Brig. Gen. William H. Sage as president. Work on a nine hole course is under way. Five polo teams are now practicing at the camp and an associate membership of the Sixth Division Polo association has been opened to Rockford people.

STAR VOTER OF ROSS' STABLE TO RUN IN DERBY

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—[Special.]—Arrival of Grey Lag, Harry F. Sinclair's colt, and the announcement that Commander J. K. L. Ross' Star Voter would arrive in a day or two added interest today to the Kentucky Derby.

It was reported the latter part of last week that Commander Ross had decided not to enter the Derby, but he evidently has changed his mind since Star Voter's sensational race at Havre de Grace Saturday.

Black Servant Discounted.

Bradley's colt Black Servant, which defeated Leonardo II, and a field of derby horses in the Blue Grass stakes Saturday in heavy going seems not to be looked upon with high favor by many turfmen, despite his victory. The time showed the race was a more or less mediocre performance.

Gen. Haig ran the mile and an eighth in the previous race two seconds better.

Grey Lag, which will be the only representative of Trainer Samuel C. Hildreth in the classic, went a half mile this morning in 49.15, going the eighth in 31.45, quarter in 23.35, and three-eighths in 35.

Whitney Stable Out in Force.

All the Whitney horses were out on the track this morning. Prudery did the best work and Tryster seemed to be tacking off a bit after a fast start. The Simms colts also were on the track. Leonardo II, so badly beaten at Lexington Saturday, went a mile and one-quarter in 2:11.25.

Some of the varieties are very sensitive to cold, but standard varieties, like the exiles moss curl and imperial long standing, are able to withstand the average winter. Northern grown kale is said to be of the best quality produced in this country. Frost improves the flavor of the plant and southern grown kale is not ready for use until it is well frosted.

CHICAGO WOMEN
GET HIGH SCORES

Cleveland, O., May 2.—Chicago women bowlers turned in the high scores in today's singles and doubles events in the fourth annual tournament of the Women's National Bowling association, but they were unable to dislodge the leaders.

Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. W. Hardy went into third place in the doubles with 954; Miss L. Gray and Miss Boy took fourth place with 945; Mrs. Gene Acker and Mrs. Gertrude Resk, with 944, went into fifth place and Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Mae Liebrick went into sixth with 943.

Mrs. W. Hardy went into second place in the singles with 524. Other high scores were Mrs. C. Baker, 509, which placed her in third place; and Mrs. L. Gray, 496, and Mrs. A. J. Koester, 495, placing them, respectively, in fifth and sixth places. Mrs. G. Dubois went into eighth place with 493.

Pavek and Housa Take
Lead in State Doubles

J. Pavek and J. Housa rolled into first place in the two man event of the state bowling tournament at the Chateau alleys, hitting the pins for 1,145. C. Peterson and H. Scholm were second high for the night with 1,137, followed by A. Larson with 1,120.

"Safe" and "Out" at Third Base in Cub Game

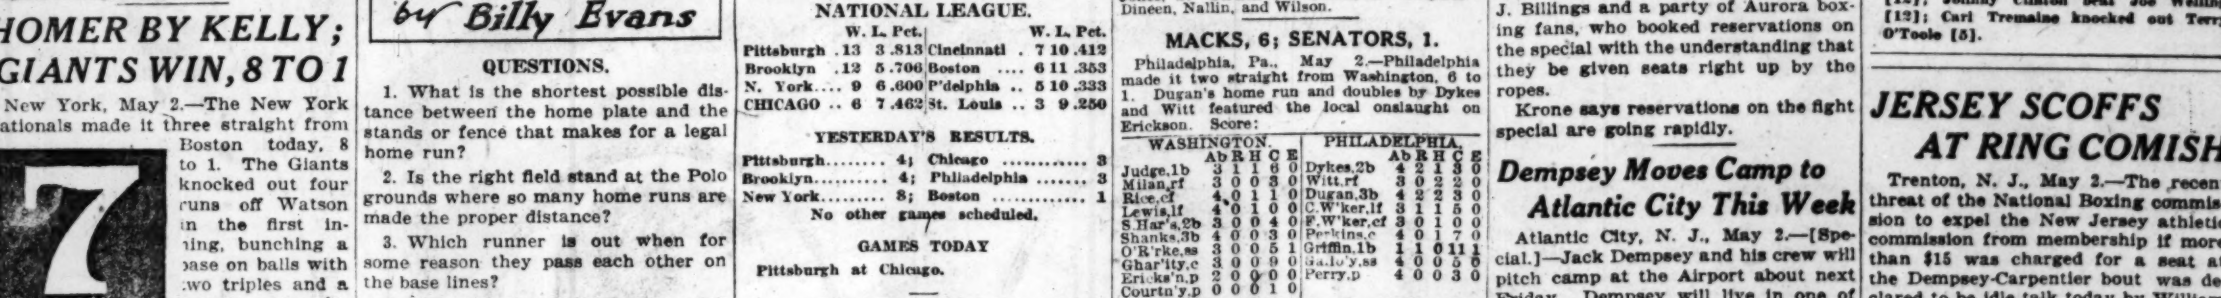

Terry's hook slide at third base earned a run for the Cubs in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with the Pirates. Terry started from second after Maise's fly to Whitted. The ball beat the runner to the bag, but Zeb slid around Maranville, who attempted the putout. Terry scored later.

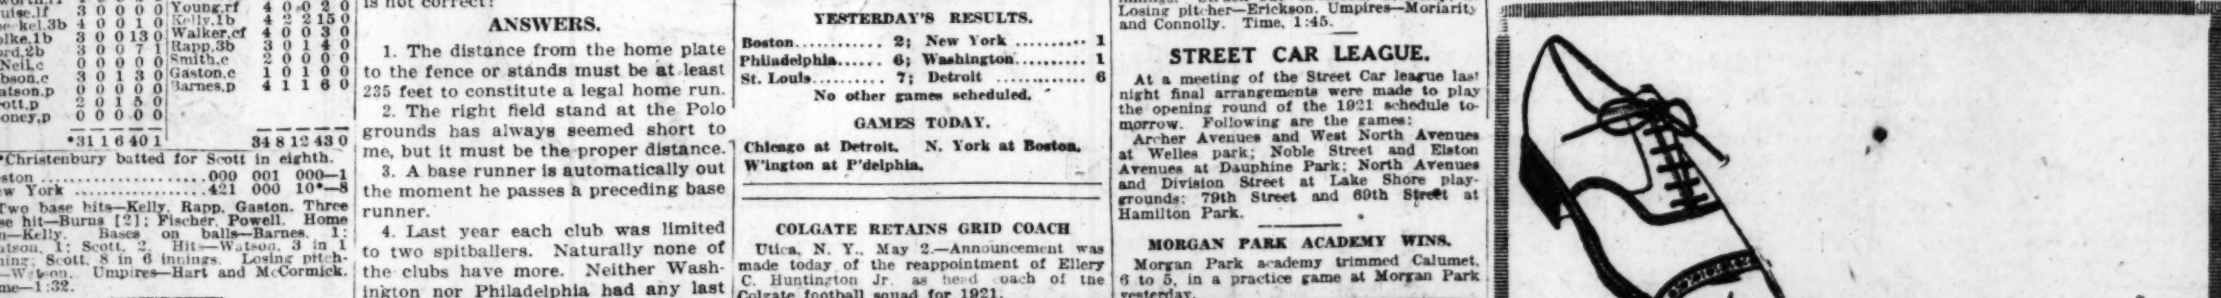

Bigbee tried to make fresh with Max Flack's throwing arm in the seventh. He hustled from first to third on Carey's single to right, but when he arrived he found Flack's throw in Deal's hands. The picture shows the putout.

DEMPSEY SPARS WELTERS TO FIT SELF FOR BIG GO

BY HARRY NEWMAN.
New York, May 2.—(Special.)—Jack Dempsey is not letting any grass grow under his feet at Freddie Welsh's big farm at Summit, N. J. Despite the fact that the champion insists he is resting up, he keeps going to the gymnasium and working out with the maulers. The big fellow looks fine and weighs close to 200 pounds. He proposes to work down to 175 pounds for his argument with Carpenter on July 2.

Following a break-out of five miles on the road this morning with Jim Chapin, the titleholder reported that he never felt better in his life, and his looks surely did not belie his statement. Jack, showing up 50 per cent better than when he fought Bill Brennan last December.

Latzo Joins Camp.
Steve Latzo, the hard hitting welterweight, joined the camp today and gave Dempsey a good workout for three rounds, Dempsey going at full speed. Jim Chapin, who is no mean puncher himself, then went on with the champion, and Jack, who came back and pasted the Utah boy with several hard jolts. Between rounds the champion skipped around the ring shadow boxing, and never sat down for a minute. Freddie Welsh goes on with Dempsey for several rounds every afternoon.

Heavy Maulers Due Next Week.
The heavy sparring partners will be along some time next week, and Dempsey will probably get right down to the hard ground. Jack Kearns is hustling around for a suitable collection of huskies who will be willing and able to rough it with Dempsey. The latter said today he did not care who they were, so long as they provided him with the necessary work. The first announcement regarding the sale of tickets for the contest was made today by Rickard.

"I wish the press would call attention to the fact that the tax is included on all the prices of the tickets from $10 to $50, except the admission tickets, which will cost $5.50," Rickard said. "The ringside tickets, for instance, show in printed form $45, so that the tax of $5 brings it up to $50, and so on down the line. If the persons who expect to buy tickets will heed this notice a great deal of inconvenience will be avoided."

21 TYGERS STALLED ON BASES UNTIL BROWNS WIN IN 13TH, 7 TO 6

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—St. Louis won the last game of the series from Detroit today, 7 to 6, after thirteen innings of seasaw baseball. Lee's walk, Lamb's sacrifice, and Josh Billings' only hit of the game, a single to left center, scored the winning run. Thirteen Tygers received bases on balls, but the Browns played well in the pinches, twenty-one locals being left on base. Score:

In the Wake of the News

THE FIGHT WIRE.
It would be interesting to know, if computation were possible, how many words will be written and telegraphed to all parts of the country between now and July 2 concerning the actions and training of Dempsey and Carpenter. The figures certainly would surprise those who think only the lower strata are interested in boxing.

Two large barns are on the tract selected for Carpenter's training quarters on Long Island. They will be fitted up as gymnasiums. Perhaps Georges wishes to be prepared for hay-makers.

BOWSER

ESTABLISHED 1885

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO the first Piston-Type Pump for Measuring Oil was assembled by S. F. Bowser. A cow barn was his workshop.

Today, S. F. Bowser & Company are the world's largest Manufacturers of Storage and Measuring Equipment for Oils and Gasoline, Filling Station Pumps, Circulating and Filtering Systems for Lubricating Oil, and Naptha Storage Systems for Dry Cleaning Establishments.

Worthy tribute is this to S. F. Bowser and to the institution that bears his name.

From the Equator to either Pole, in every civilized country on earth, Bowser Oil Handling Equipment is known for its high quality, and for the old-fashioned honesty of the Company behind it.

The founders of the great Bowser Business have never departed one hair's breadth from this high plane of integrity.

And the unselfish purpose to protect all people by bunding only such Equipment as will Accurately, Safely, and Economically handle Gasoline and other Hazardous Liquids will continue to guide Bowser in the future as it has in the past.

Thus has Bowser, the man and the institution, set up a standard of commercial sincerity than which there is none higher, and the leadership of the industry Bowser created, still remains with Bowser.

BONDS, ALWAYS BONDS, MADE ME STEAL—DALTON

Boy Tells Jury Why He Took $772,000.

Bonds, bonds, bonds—bonds by the million, bonds that swam through his brain until he could neither work nor sleep, sweeping away all thoughts of right or wrong, bonds that tempted him until he finally slipped from the city in a daze, carrying in one hand a black satchel packed with $772,000 in stolen securities.

Such was the explanation given by William Dalton, 16-year-old bank clerk, when he admitted on the witness stand yesterday before Chief Justice McDonald that he had stolen the fortune in Liberty bonds from the Northern Trust company last February. A jury will decide his guilt or innocence to-day.

Dalton, on the stand in his own defense, was cool when questioned by his attorney, Ben Short. He became visibly nervous under the grilling cross examination of Special Prosecutor Stephen Malato.

The Boy's Own Story.
"Did you go to your classes on the Wednesday night before the bonds were missed?" Mr. Short asked.

"Yes, but I could not work. I could not get the bonds out of my mind. My head buzzed with securities, until finally I went home. It was a long time then before I could sleep," Dalton replied.

Q—Did you have the idea of taking the bonds? A—It was in my mind.

Q—When did you think of them again? A—When I took them from the vault.

Q—Did you know there was a punishment for embezzlement? A—No.

Q—Had you heard of the Ottawa case, A—Yes. (This is the case where Judge Landis sentenced Francis Carey to a federal reformatory for taking nearly $100,000.)

Just Wandered Around.
Dalton told of how he wrapped up the securities, purchased an automobile, and fled from the city.

"Where were you bound for?" asked Attorney Short. A—No place. My head buzzed with securities, until finally I went home. It was a long time then before I could sleep," Dalton replied.

Q—Was the grip locked? A—No. The boy told of leaving the grip with clerks in hotels, behind pool tables, and unguarded in his room. He told of seeing in the newspapers that the bank was making a big effort to regain the bonds. He said he intended to return and explained his evasion of the authorities by saying he hoped to return the bonds and save the bank paying a big reward.

Jurors Watch Boy Closely.
The jurors paid close attention to young Dalton's story. Later they laughed several times when the attorney asked, "Prosecutor Malato cross examined."

Q—When you took the bonds you knew you were stealing them, didn't you? A—I didn't look on that as stealing.

Q—Didn't you learn that it was wrong to steal when you went to church and school? A—Yes.

Q—Now about the bag, you say you purchased that to use on your vacation. When do you take your vacation? A—In July.

Malato turned to the jury. "He purchased his grip in February for a July vacation," he said.

Attorney Malato, in presenting the testimony of the two overcast veterans who captured Dalton, stressed the fact that the two young men had never thought of stealing the money, although they were getting but $30 a month from the government. Paul Draper, one of the witnesses, spent twenty months in a hospital as the result of wounds received in France.

LEAPS FROM CAR, SHOOT 1 ROBBER, FIGHTS ANOTHER

Detective Sergeant Thomas Mangan of the bureau received his twenty-second creditable mention in a year last night, when he shot one hold-up man and fought a duel with another. The wounded robber, William Jones, a Negro, is not expected to recover. Mangan was riding on a 35th street car. At Normal avenue he saw four Negroes surrounding a white man, who had his arms in the air.

The detective jumped from the car and the robbers ran. Mangan did not stop his pursuit after shooting Jones. He fired several more shots. One of the men dodged behind a building and fired at him. Mangan emptied his revolver, but missed the mark.

The man who was robbed is Frank Jackson of 3421 Auburn avenue. He lost a bunch of keys and 60 cents.

Milk Dealers and Drivers Fail to Reach Agreement

A conference with the Illinois Milk Dealers' association was held yesterday by the executive committee of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union on the proposed one day a week rest for the drivers. Union officials said nothing was accomplished.

The Master Bakers' Club of Chicago will meet with the executive committee of the Bread Wagon Drivers' union Thursday or Friday. An effort will be made to agree on the $5 a week wage cut proposed by the employers.

George Golden, business agent for the Packing House Teamsters' union, will take up with the employers on proposed wage cut of drivers this afternoon.

BEN-AMI

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

"BEN-AMI" appearing as the curtain rose last evening on "Samson and Delilah," was merely an odd theater name, symbolic of something queer upon the stage. Reports had come to the lake-side cognoscent that in New York Ben-Ami had routed the Philistines in a superb exhibition of histrionic flower, but to us who do not read the New York papers every day, he was little more than a rumor, of which we should be proud to say that he might be good, but that we did not like him.

So the drama began last night disclosing Ben-Ami as a greedy Scandinavian poet of Satanic men, consuming his sixth cutlet at a late breakfast, to the accompaniment of gibes from his faithful wife (Miss Pauline Lord) and an intense mid-west silence from the audience at the Playhouse.

The deep mouthed bark of hospitality, indigenous to this warm-hearted littoral, was absent, and he pursued his eloquent mastications, uninterrupted by a single welcoming hush. The quiet, however, proved to be the stillness which precedes a phenomenon.

After Mr. Ben-Ami in the second act had finished a scene, no moment of which was not full of all that good acting has to offer, we put aside our wary indifference and gave him the tribute of little "E" and crossing the words to the "E" of essential illusion Ben-Ami, as the producer of his own work, went through all the travail of the artist, adding fine imagination to photography. He rehearsed the bad actor (Mr. Monart Kippen, who was very good) with varying moods of despair, patience, anger, cajolery, cynical humor, and dismay. And after he discovered that his wife, who was playing Delilah, was turning his hot words to equally hot glances toward her lover, a dealer in stage furnishings, he started a fist fight, which equaled in violence and ferocity any conflict available upon the silver screens.

You have seen desperate, unhappy men grope their way out of the conventional apertures of the drama? Well, Ben-Ami has something new to show you in this line. He makes his exclamation exit upon paths hitherto untrodden. His vanishing is moderate in manner, but terrific in effect, and after he is gone you say to yourself, that if there were more Ben-Ami Samsons in the theater there would be fewer Philistines to crush at the feast of Dagon. It is a thoughtful, intelligent, skillful exhibition of an optimistic actor. Or perhaps Ben-Ami is an egotist, saying to himself and proving it that he is so very, very good that he can get away with it.

Ben-Ami has the handicap, soon forgot in his genius and individuality, of an exotic exterior combining a wild coiffure, a bizarre physiognomy, and an accent, reeking of foreign parts. He is so strange that you marvel that he can be so familiar. Not in the least like Carl Sandburg, the poet we know by sight, he is even less like Poe or D'Annunzio, whom we know by hearing. He is Ben-Ami, and he is great.

I wish that I had gone to see him play in Yiddish when I was urged to do so years ago at Glickman's theater on the west side. It should be said that "Samson and Delilah," by Ben-Ami, translated by Samuel S. Grossman, that the scenery is by Robert Edmond Jones, and that the intelligent stage direction is by Arthur Hopkins. Also that Miss Lord as the wife and Mr. Robert T. Haines as her dull lover are admirable, including that last minute when they creep out, guilty and afraid as they confront the crazed poet's plot.

Three Firms Fined for Smoke; Building Warned

Judge Williams in Municipal court fined the agents of three buildings for violation of the smoke ordinance yesterday and smoke inspectors of the health department closed down firing in the Stewart building for half an hour. The firms fined were the Michigan Central railroad, the Cragin Corn Products company, and the Hulsman & Moe company.

Schaefer, Congress hotel, who lost a barpin valued at $700; Mrs. S. F. Hirsch, 1185 Chase avenue, who lost a diamond lavalliere valued at $1,200.

Jobless Flood Takes Sting Out of Yards Strike

Cattle Handlers' Places Quickly Filled.

The strike of the 900 members of the Live Stock Handlers' union did not affect the activities at the stockyards to any appreciable extent yesterday.

The Union Stockyards and Transit company employed 400 to 500 other men, chosen from the great crowds who applied for work as soon as they heard of the strike. New employees were housed in Dexter Park pavilion.

As there are no nice technicalities to learn about the business of chasing cattle into pens, Packingtown chiefs said a day's work made the new men as efficient as the men who walked out.

It is probable that the strikers will not be taken back. There are hundreds of men out of work, eager to take their places and work for the wages offered. The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union also refused to back the strike.

Lane Refuses Sympathy Strike.

Dennis Lane, secretary of the International Union of Butchers and Meat Cutters, said the international was not in sympathy with the strike of live stock handlers.

"We have just finished signing up with the packers on the wage scale and working condition agreement," Mr. Lane said. "It does not expire until next September. The live stock handlers were part of the international at one time, but they withdrew when the international had some difficulties with the Chicago Federation of Labor. If it was still affiliated with the parent labor body then we would have to go along with them."

Refused to Arbitrate.

O. T. Henkle, general manager of the Stockyards company, said he was not worried.

"Nine hundred men have left lucrative employment and several thousand have applied for the vacant places," he said. "I tried to persuade the union officials to bring the wage question up to Judge Alschuler for settlement, but they refused. With the large number of unemployed seeking any kind of work, strikes do not affect our activities."

BEER A MEDICINE? LONDON DOCTOR ANSWERS "ROT!"

"Beer has no medicinal value. The claim that it has is all rot," declared Dr. C. W. Saleeby, of London yesterday before the Congressional committee on the use of patent medicines.

The Methodist ministers heard Miss Eleanor Richardson of the Young Women's Christian association explain the uses to which the association will put the $275,000 fund about to be raised in Chicago. Part of it will go to establish J. W. C. A. centers in factories.

Last Day to Pay Taxes! Treasurer Expects Rush

Last minute taxpayers are expected to throng the county treasurer's office today, the last opportunity for payment of taxes without a penalty of 1 per cent a month being attached. It is expected that because of "tight" money the delinquent list will be larger this year than ever before. Treasurer Patrick J. Carr estimates that only $25,000,000 has been paid in, although an approximate total of $100,000,000 is on the books.

OUR MARY LOVES OPERA, CHICAGO, AND—NO, NOT BILL

Mr. Hart Is Only Miss Garden's Movie Hero.

Chicago with its grand opera, Mary Garden says, is like a child with a toy to which it has grown accustomed; it doesn't, and won't, realize the value of what it has, until what it has is taken away.

"You know," said Miss Garden in her suite at the Drake hotel, "when one is given something, one doesn't value it as one does something one has to fight for. Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCormick have given Chicago its grand opera for ten years. But next season will be the last of that, and then—"

Expecting Chicago to Awaken.
Well, then, Miss Garden believes, with Chicago facing the loss of its opera, there is going to be an awakening and a "fight." The champions of grand opera are going to stage a battle to arouse those who love and should support grand opera, and perhaps—Chicago will always be assured its grand opera.

The diva-director arrived yesterday with her artists—25 of them—on a special train from the west. Miss Garden will remain in Chicago for about ten days attending to affairs of the opera for next season. The noted artists who came with her, including Lucien Muratore, Rosa Raisa, Rimini, Jacques Coen, and Giorgio Polacco, the conductor, will scatter to the four corners of the earth to be gone until the season opens here next November.

A Real Chicago Booster.
Miss Garden was tired, but not too tired to talk about Chicago, Bill Hart, and grand opera. Grand opera, particularly the Chicago Grand Opera company, is, of course, always uppermost in her mind. But she likes to chat of Chicago and of her "movie hero."

"Just come over here by the window," she said, leading the way, "and look out over that drive, and over the lake. Isn't it perfectly magnificent—just—just wonderful. O, I love this city, and when strangers think of it they think it's terms of smoke and grime!"

Concerning Mr. Hart.
Bill Hart? "O, it's just too funny," she said, "a huge joke. Every one asks me about Bill Hart, and they're all so serious about it. I believe they really believe I'm in love with Bill Hart. I'm not. Bill Hart is just my movie hero. And he isn't at all the big, bold, cavernous in real life that he is in the pictures. So—so timid. So quiet. He put his arms around me so gingerly when he had that picture taken."

Miss Garden declared she thinks next season is going to be a big opera season in Chicago.

8,000 ATTEND OPENING OF NEW FIELD MUSEUM

Exhibit Is Ready for Public Today.

Over a row as bumpy as the "rocky road to Dublin" private motors and taxicabs traveled all yesterday afternoon across Grant park taking thousands of invited visitors to the new Field Museum of Natural History at the foot of Roosevelt road.

There also were many who trudged across a narrow wooden walk, braving the biting wind and drizzly rain, for a first visit to the beautiful building and its exhibits, which were transferred from the old building in Jackson park during the last year. The new structure is the greatest natural history museum in the west, and one of the finest examples of Ionic architecture in this country.

No Formality to Opening.
The opening was marked by no formality or celebration. The doors were simply opened at 2 o'clock and the first of the 8,000 guests entered. Speeches and music would have been superfluous.

The great Stanley Field hall, the spacious corridors with the carefully arranged exhibits, the guards in spick and span blue uniforms of French sendarmes, the James Simpson theater, where 1,000 persons can be accommodated—all were just as they will be every day for years to come.

Today at 10 o'clock the museum will be opened to the general public. Every day afterward, except on Thanksgiving and Christmas, it will be open from 10 to 4 o'clock. Admission will be free on Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays. On other days a charge of 25 cents will be made.

Museum Delights Children.
Mingled with the thousands of men and women at the opening were hundreds of children, eager faced youngsters, standing on tip-toe to see the curios. For many of them it was a first visit to a museum of natural history, and their eyes grew wider and wider with wonder as they progressed from room to room.

The mounted birds and prehistoric animals, skeletons, Egyptian coffins and mummies, American Indian relics, and other interesting exhibits elicited gasps of surprise from them. Many a mother or governess had to drag her little child away.

Officers of Museum.
Stanley Field is president of the museum; D. C. Davies is acting director; John Glynn, superintendent; Martin A. Ryerson and Watson F. Blair, vice presidents; and Solomon A. Smith, treasurer. Frederick J. V. Skiff, who had been in charge of the old museum since its start, died recently.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.
Which man do you want to see win the fight, Dempsey or Carpenter?

Where Asked.
Naval and Military club, 211 North Clark street. Asked of ex-service men.

The Answers.
Albert T. Olson, engineer—We certainly should not hold any prejudice against Dempsey's war record, as the heavyweight championship is at stake. I would like to see Dempsey win, so he title will remain in the United States.

Knud Jacobson, electrician—I would like to see Dempsey win for the United States. I saw Carpenter fight in France, and I believe Dempsey is a better man. Although Dempsey was popularly known as a slacker during the war, I do not believe he will go up against the toughest man he has ever met.

J. D. Wyatt, railroad clerk—I would like to see Dempsey win, and I believe the majority of ex-service men think likewise. Dempsey is a bigger man, without being too heavy, and undoubtedly will use his weight to advantage. Although Carpenter is a fast, shifty man, packed in a knockout punch, I still favor Jack's chances of coping the bout.

Frank Haley, telegraph operator—Dempsey is from my home town, Salt Lake City, and is a self-made man. However, I want to see the best man win, regardless of which man it is. Just as fair to one as the other.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Mrs. E. G. Westlake, 1446 Chase avenue, whose automobile was struck by the "temperamental car" of Mrs. Richard B. Brown, 1645 Greenleaf avenue Saturday night, denies that she and Mrs. Brown are well acquainted as reported in Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Articles printed in THE TRIBUNE regarding the $200,000 diamond robbery in the offices of Julius and Leo Reinhold, on the fifteenth floor of the Keener building April 22, related the arrest of the brothers and their subsequent detention. Both were released by Judge Charles Williams when they appeared before him, the police stating they had no evidence upon which to base a complaint. The police yesterday said they had no clues as to the identity of the robbers.

'LITTLE MOTHER' OF FAMILY OF 10 GONE; KIDNAPED?

The "little mother" of the Peterman family has been missing since last Thursday.

Cornelius Peterman of 6333 South Justine avenue is heartbroken. He is a widower, whose wife died three years ago. Little Genevieve, who is 14 years old, has been trying her best to keep the home in order. He fears it might have been too much for her and she ran away. She has Genevieve's eight sisters. The oldest thinks Genevieve was kidnaped. The police are searching for William Port, who, it is said by them, was last seen with the girl. He is 35 years old. Stockings, shoes, hat, dress, and strands of hair belonging to Genevieve were found a few blocks from her home. The police believe that the girl was compelled to do boys' clothing.

Prepare to Extradite Trio Arrested as Bank Robbers

Extradition papers for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein and Harry Kelly, arrested Sunday in New York in connection with the $25,000 robbery here of John F. Ambler and Morton S. Stone of the Schubert & Ambler State bank, are expected to be ready today. They will be taken to New York by Detective Sergeants Welling and O'Connor. Detective Sergeant John Egan went ahead to arrange preliminaries for bringing the trio back to Chicago. Police are guarding a safety deposit box in which the Bernsteins cached $4,500 of the loot.

25,000 BUILDING WORKERS QUIT IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., May 2.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 men, employed in more than twenty crafts affiliated with the Building Trades council, left their jobs this morning immediately after reporting for work on building contracts controlled by the Cleveland Building Trades Employers' association. Labor leaders say they will try to obtain separate agreements with employers and return to work. The agreements are reached. Employers say 10,000 or more men employed in other trades will be thrown out of work by the strike.

BUILDERS AND UNIONS FIRM AS LOCKOUT STARTS

Both Sides Claim Edge in First Day of Test.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

At the end of the first real day of Chicago's building lockout both sides last night were declaring they would stick to the last ditch.

Officials of the two big employers' associations said the tieup was tighter than a drum, and that not a hammer or saw was working on $35,000,000 worth of building contracts, either in process of erection or completion, or for which contracts have been let.

Union chiefs declare the shutdown is not fitting so tight as the builders declare, and that in several crafts, as fast as men were laid off, the big projects, they were gobbled up by independent contractors.

Only One Big Job Continues.
The builders, after a canvass of jobs under way inside the city limits, reported only one large structure on which work was still progressing—a flat building on the south side. The new hospital at the Speedway is going ahead, it being a government job. Otherwise, the Building Construction Employers' association said, the lockout was sticking as close as a porous plaster.

Its officials said in the residence sections work on small homes and bungalows is progressing, but that the total amount of work now alive amounts to less than $250,000.

In one or two instances it was reported that owners of new buildings were seeking to hold contractors where the agreements provided that work should cease only by a strike, the contention being that the present blockade is a lockout, and not a strike.

Contractors held otherwise, and declared that technically the carpenters and other crafts whose trade agreements lapsed May 1, by refusing to sign up new agreements at the proposed reduced wages, are in the position of strikers. The unions took the ground it is a lockout pure and simple.

Unions Check Up on Jobs.
Last night the unions began a canvass to ascertain how many in building trades have been thrown out of employment by the shutdown. A report will be made to the board of business agents in a few days.

"All reports," said Thomas Kearney, president of the Building Trades council, "are that the lockout is not so tight as the builders imagine. Many independents are proceeding. Some trades, like the plumbers and electricians, seem to be running almost as before—as fast as they were displaced from big jobs the smaller contractors gobbled them up. It will take a few days to determine just how tight or loose the lockout is."

Contractors Claim New Support.
The contractors reported several independents had joined the movement. "The Building Construction Employers' association," said E. M. Crake, its secretary, "is gratified at the reports we have been receiving of independent contractors who have joined the procession. Nobody is breaking away. Reports to the contrary are silly; $35,000,000 worth of work is tied up tight. The builders are being supported by the association of commerce and other civic bodies."

"This is not so much a fight over wage rates as it is of getting construction costs down to a point where the public can see its way clear to invest. The issue is that of reviving the building industry."

Miss Ferguson Is Seen in Story of Arnold Bennett

"SACRED AND PROFANE LOVE"
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by William D. Taylor.
Presented at the Roosevelt.

THE CAST:
Carolina Peck.....Elsie Ferguson
Emile Dineen.....Oscar Noy
Frank L. Brown.....Thomas Holding Constance Peck.....Helen Dunbar
Mrs. L. Brown.....Winifred Greenwood
Lord Francis Alton.....Raymond Brathwaite
Mrs. S. Peck.....Mrs. S. Peck
Albert Viscy.....Howard Gay

By Mae Tinee.
ELSIE FERGUSON has had pictures far better suited to her than this adaptation of Arnold Bennett's story. She has had with her players who furnished more suitable background for her than those composing her present cast. It is difficult to be explicit, but there is something missing in this production. Without being able to pick any definite flaw, you are nevertheless vaguely disappointed in it. (It was. Speak for yourselves, John.)

The story runs thus:
Since childhood Carolina Peck has lived with a maiden aunt who has reared her niece according to the theory that ignorance is bliss. Here Carolina—who believes—knows nothing of the world, nor of matters earthly. Her Carolina—despite her belief—is versed in a number of things that aunt never dreamed of. For Carolina, left much alone, has read widely and indiscriminately. She knows her Darwin and her Ellen Key. And she has not only read; she has written. A first novel, "The Jest," is ready for the publishers. In other words, Carolina's mind is a variegated and undisciplined surge of thoughts, ideas, and convictions.

She attends a concert given by the brilliant pianist Emilia Diaz, attracts him at her fascinated attention, meets him at the concert, where she has gone unchaperoned unknown to her aunt, and falls under his spell. When she returns home in the early morning hours, she finds her aunt dead. Remorse and unhappiness drive her from place to place. She writes constantly and makes an enviable name for herself. Her publisher, a married man, loves her. She flees to escape

HAROLD TEEN—HE WAS JUST ONE OF MANY!

CLOSEUPS

I know you will be happy to read the following excerpt from a letter written by Mrs. Frank Mills, who thanks all of us for thinking so kindly of her husband and requests me to "correct a statement made in some of the papers."

"Frank is not insane—he was taken to the Michigan State hospital only because he could go through a course of treatments there better than in an ordinary sanitarium. He is only an emergency case and is staying only for his ten weeks' course of treatments, then he comes home to me as he has been since the beginning of this really frightful nervous breakdown. He is improving rapidly, takes long walks in the country every day, and is now sleeping well, eating well, and looking more like his old self all the time."

"I am fixing up a dear old house—a white one with green blinds—in the village where I grew up and there he will be kept out of doors for a long time. Then when he is well enough we shall go abroad to live. Always sincerely yours, HAZEL MACHETT MILLS."

"Romeo and Juliet" and be "done" by Grace La Rue and Hale Hamilton. (There is many a true word spoken in the press notices.)

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Stop Seeing Him.
"Dear Miss Blake: For the last year I have been going out with a young man six years my senior. He has been good to me and is everything the word gentleman implies. He is well liked by my parents, but I cannot think of him as anything more than a friend. I know by his actions that he is quite fond of me, but try as hard as I might I cannot bring myself to love him. Do you think it is right of me to keep going out with him and deprive some other girl who could perhaps love him of the time he is spending with me?"

If you feel that way toward him, then the honorable thing to do is not to encourage him. Maybe, if you stopped seeing him for a while, you would find you did care after all.

Brace Up, Jack.
"Dear Miss Blake: Worked with a girl at the same place for a year. She left a few months ago and I can't forget her. We were just friends, and I didn't ask her out, as I knew she had gone with other fellows. As I never had much to do with girls, and am

Fashion's Blue Book

BY CORINNE LOWE.
NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—The cape covers a multitude of sins—else why does the operative villain always wear one? It also covers a multitude of ages, and any woman of from 3 to 73 is wearing them this spring.

Some of the little jersey and duvetyne and serge capes for children are perfectly lovely, but the more practical mother realizes that the cape-coat gives just as much smartness together with more warmth and more real freedom of movement.

A delightful little model is this shown today with its modish big ruff of plaid lining of the deep cape. The coat itself is beige Point twill. The tan straw hat is faced with the same king's blue.

old fashioned, I don't dare ask her out. What shall I do? We didn't meet but once since, and I lost my nerve then. What shall I do? JACK." Jack, you have to do something for yourself! You know the old story about the faint heart and the fair lady. Brace up, Jack, and dare to ask her out. Call her up on the telephone, and ask if you may call on her first.

Volunteer Aids of Lighthouse to Give a Cabaret Dance

THE Volunteer Aids of the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind will give a cabaret dance Friday evening, May 13, at the Opera club. Miss Ellen Kelly is president of the organization and Miss Marion Osborne is chairman of the entertainment committee and has charge of the sale of tickets. Assistant is Miss Elizabeth Martin. The program will include a variety of songs, dances, and a musical comedy. The proceeds will be used to pay the salaries of the instructors at the Chicago Lighthouse, an industrial training school where blind men and women are taught trades and placed in factories where they fill self-supporting positions.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Warren, who have given up their apartment at 607 North street and taken rooms at the Ambassador, are moving to the Derby in Louisville. They will return next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Waller of 2120 Astor street also are planning to attend the Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Taylor and son, Stanley, have moved from 140 Dearborn parkway to 10 East Schiller street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Callahan and son, Lawrence, of 1245 Astor street, will leave Thursday for Louisville to attend the Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Snowden of Burlington, Ia., who are at the Ambassador temporarily, are moving to 21 West George F. Porter's apartment at 21 East Elm street.

Mr. R. O. Law, who has been at the Chicago Beach hotel since his return from California, has opened his summer residence at Flossmoor, Ill., near the Elmhurst Keith and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keith of 999 Lake Shore drive, will return today from Pasadena, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy W. Fuller of 224 North State street have taken Mrs. Florence Underwood's house in Lake Forest for the summer.

Mrs. Eugene E. Andrews and daughter, Miss Grace Andrews of Highland park have returned from a three weeks' tour of California.

At a meeting of Le Cercle Francaise last afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Herbert Hammond will read a paper on "Modern French Drama" and Mrs. J. M. Towler will read scenes from the latest play of Breux. At 7 o'clock Prof. Henri David will give a lecture on "French Poetry."

Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar E. Unander-Scharin are being congratulated on the birth of a son. Mr. Unander-Scharin, formerly Miss Jean Hippach of Evanston, will sail with her husband in June to Sweden, where they have a home. Mr. Unander-Scharin is the son of Mr. George's Hill for the summer.

An engagement announcement of interest to Chicago society, although the parties are residents of New York, is that of Miss Caroline Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, to Edward B. Condon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Condon. Mr. Condon is a brother of Mrs. Philip D. Amour III, formerly Gwendolyn Condon.

The classes of 1899 and 1904 of the St. Francis Xavier academy alumni will give a benefit theater party to be held at Powers theater. Among the subscribers are Dr. and Mrs. John F. Golden, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Hartwich and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Holtzman.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The story told never has been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Lady Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

Either is such a harum-scarum that she has no time for being petted during the day, but when evening comes she likes to sit in my lap. The other is a very quiet child.

My little son, Robert, was picking flowers one day for his mother. He picked a great many buds. Robert began to pick the flowers when Johnny said, "Don't pick them, they are somebody else's flowers." "Why?" said Robert. "There's more to it than that," said Johnny.

Charles was busily playing on the floor. His mother remarked to the older children of the family, "The potatoes are turning out as well as we expected." Charles looked up with a frown, saying, "For heaven's sake, that worries you ever will eat."

Johnny and Robert were picking flowers one day for their mother. Robert began to pick the flowers when Johnny said, "Don't pick them, they are somebody else's flowers." "Why?" said Robert. "There's more to it than that," said Johnny.

TRIBUTE COOK BOOK BY JANE EDDINGTON. Popover Batters.

The condition of the oven is of such vital importance in popover making that other matters in the manufacture of this favorite compromise between a bread and an omelet, given the mere formula, are of secondary importance, yet the right procedure or the best does count in getting a perfect product. For instance, because a man once wrote that his nonchalant way of putting together a popover batter produced the best of results, I followed his directions in companionship with more careful ones. In one-half of a pan I put my batter as he described the making of it. In the other half I had a batter for which the flour had been sifted four times and which had been strained.

After these went into a medium hot oven there was a fifteen minute wait before they were inspected. Those made with the sieved batter were well up, while the others had not risen perceptibly. More heat was turned on and the sieved batter produced a wonderful popover, while the others were irregular.

The challenge was printed, but here it is again, the formula describes the hue common or one egg popover: "Your popover recipe is all right for the ladies. Let them sift and beat to their heart's content. The best popover I ever ate was my own, were made thus: One cup milk, drop in an egg, dig one cup of flour out of the barrel and pour into the mixture. Add a little salt. Stir just enough to get flour in the 'goo.' Never mind lumps of flour. They all come out in the baking. Grease a cold tin, fill about half full of batter, and put in oven, medium heat. The resultant is the best mess of popovers you ever will eat."

At the Psychological Moment.

I was a callow school teacher, nervous and anxious to please. In my first year I followed the usual scheme, substituting or cadet for teachers about various causes. I was at a school one day teaching in the absence of a woman who was ill. During the morning exercises I read a couple of chapters from a story, as was her custom. I cannot remember the name of the book, but I had just read "But here comes the author of all our troubles" and when the door suddenly opened and in walked the principal. The room, composed of high school sophomores, burst into one prolonged roar of laughter. The principal, a man insistent upon his dignity, waited patiently, but one burst of laughter followed another. I tried to explain, but began to laugh myself. Finally, realizing that it was the only way to restore order, he left the room. Later I explained and he saw the joke.

Giving a Demonstration.

Last winter I was at a large skating pond. There were crowds of boys and girls there. I had just learned to skate backwards, so I thought I would give a demonstration. After I had attracted the attention of every one and was feeling exceedingly pleased with myself, down I went. I had not been watching when I was going and stumbled over a small boy, who holed: "Help! I'm smashed."

"Pastor John," Who Served Church for 35 Years, Retires

BY REV. G. A. MACWHORTER.

PASTOR John, who has served for more than a third of a century as the spiritual head of St. Paul's Lutheran church, at Orchard and Kemper streets, the Rev. Rudolph A. John "Pastor John," as he is familiarly known to almost everybody on the north side, has resigned as active pastor of the church and becomes the director of St. Paul's house, the church home for the aged. John will reside as a matron of the house. Leaving a pastorate of thirty-five years' uninterrupted service, during which he has married thousands of young couples, baptized thousands of children, and officiated at the marriage of many of those whom he has baptized, is like "breaking home ties," but "Pastor John" is not going very far from home; in fact, as he states: "I will remain where I have been for thirty-five years—the pastor of St. Paul's church—only I will change my residence from the nine room apartment at 845 Oakdale avenue to the two rooms set aside for the director at St. Paul's house."

Associate Pastor Pieter will be in charge of St. Paul's church, although "Pastor John" will be present each Sunday and keep office hours during the week at the church. The Rev. Mr. John is a nephew of the famous German novelist, "Miss Marlett," whose real name was Eugenia John.

DEARBORN SHOE ROW RENTALS IN FRESH ADVANCE

BY AL CHASE.

How Dearborn street shoe rentals are climbing is shown in the deal just made whereby French, Shriver & Urner of Boston have subleased from the Brooks company its store at No. 15, in the Hamilton Club building, at approximately $13,000 a year. The original ten years' lease to the Brooks company, made six years ago, calls for a rental of $7,500 a year.

As a further consideration in obtaining the store French, Shriver & Urner leased to the Brooks company a store in their New York building, at Columbus circle, at terms said to be attractive to the lessee. All parties were represented by Ralph C. Hester & Co. The Hamilton Club building will now house three nationally known shoe stores, the others being Hagan & Son and the Walker. French, Shriver & Urner will move from their present location in the Tribune building.

North Side Lease.

The Freeman Street company, electrical engineers, have leased the four story building, 50x100, at 9-11 West Illinois street, from William H. Button and others of New York City, through E. F. Keeler & Co., for fifteen years from May 1, 1922, at a net rental of $135,000 for the term, which with taxes and insurance will make the total amount of compensation to be paid approximately $150,000. The lessees have been in the Transportation building for several years. They will use their new quarters for general offices and manufacturing.

The Blackstone institute, a correspondence school of law, recently combined with the Standard School of Accountancy, has bought the old Duntley residence at 4753 Grand boulevard, No. 4753, from Albert F. Marthe, for an indicated $25,000. The institute formerly was at 608 South Dearborn street.

The six apartment building at 744-46 Bitterroot place has been sold by Kathleen Galavan to Patrick Dolan for a reported $27,500. Galavan Bros. and H. Goldstein were brokers.

Elston Avenue 99 Year Lease.

A ninety-nine year lease on the property at the northwest corner of Irving Park boulevard and Elston avenue, 99x173, together with the two story store, flat, and office building, has been signed by Salvatore, Joseph, and Henry Vinat, at a term rental of $356,400, or $3,600 annually. The lessor is G. Arthur Albert, represented by Attorneys Simeon and Ira Straus. Fry & Jacobson were brokers. The lessees will remodel the building at a cost of $15,000. A clause in the lease specifies that if any new buildings are erected, they must cost at least $35,000. The lease is operative Aug. 1, 1921.

The northeast corner of Madison street and Laramie avenue, improved with a one story brick and terra cotta building, containing seven stores, has been sold by Byfield & Hirsch to William P. Dowdall, through P. M. Walsh & Co., for a reported $46,000. The lot fronts 106 feet on Madison.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter prices here were weaker and lower early, with 92 scores off 1/2c, but later sales were in some instances above the quotations. Arrivals were 8,500 tubs, and street stocks were 23,545 tubs, showing a decrease of 2,427 tubs from Saturday. Eastern markets showed strength, with lighter offerings and a good demand.

Potatoes declined 10c, with arrivals 95 cars, and 210 cars were on team track. Watermelons from Florida were on the market, but overcasts and watermelons do not go well and sales were slow at $1 each for small and $1.50 for large.

Receipts of strawberries were 12 cars and 3,100 cases. Buyers took hold well and prices were maintained.

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—Evidence of greater buoyancy in all markets was to be found today, a happening which perhaps in part was foreshadowed by the constructive factors which began to make themselves felt last week. There was a more definite

Whether in the stock market, which made a notable gain on a volume of trading in excess of 1,000,000 shares, the cotton market, or foreign exchange, the trend was decidedly upward. Groping for the specific reason led to some strange conclusions, each bearing a grain of truth, but individually not telling the real situation.

Sterling Reaches New Top.

It was plain that no factor of the day's news bore such outstanding significance as to establish advances in all lines. But in the aggregate the developments were of a character at least to ensure the improvement of the world's lot.

Sterling, for instance, touched a new
